"I RESPECT 'K.'S' ARMY," SAYS GEN. VON FALKENHAYN

GERMAN WAR MINISTER GIVES OUT STRANGE INTERVIEW—BRITISH OFFICERS SCARCE—ANGRY AT VARIETY OF RACES IN OPPOSING ARMIES.

General Field Headquarters of the German Armies (in France), Jan. 16.—"More of such offensive" (referring to the present offensive operations in the campaign of the Allies) "can only be welcome to us."

"The British are good fighters, but an army without the necessary officers and non-commissioned officers is scarcely an army."

"We are fully prepared for any attempt at a landing in Belgium; the sooner it comes the better."

These are some of the phrases, full of quiet optimism, of Lieutenant General Erich Von Falkenhayn, the German Minister of War and Chief of Staff of the German armies in the field, who today received the Associated Press in the first interview given to any correspondent.

The general talked frankly of the present military situation and the prospects of the war, which he evidently does not expect will be a short one.

General Von Falkenhayn is the man responsible under the Emperor for the strategy in the great world war. He is a comparatively young man as commanders go—the youngest of any of the leaders of the European armies—with a tremendous capacity for the hard, concentrated work necessary for the control of the great apparatus of the German armies.

No German Flank Move.

"It is wrong to interpret the operations in Flanders as an attempt on our part to reach Calais and outflank the allied armies. On the contrary, that phase of the campaign is the result of an attempt on the part of the French and British to force their way north to separate us from the sea and envelop our right flank and rear, relieve Antwerp and oblige us to retire from Belgium."

"Their plan was the failure, our counter-stroke the success, of the operations in Flanders. They have not outflanked us, and we are still here."

"What is your view of the widely heralded general offensive and Kitchener's new army?" he asked.

"The offensive," replied the German chief of staff, "was to begin, according to General Joffre's order, on the day of December 17. So far, we have no reason to be dissatisfied with its results. We have not only held our lines successfully, but have even gained ground. More of such offensive can only be welcome to us."

"British Are Good Fighters."

"As to Kitchener's army, the British are good fighters, and I have all respect for them, but an army without the necessary officers and non-commissioned officers is scarcely an army, according to present-day standards. They may send them over to attack us, but I think we are strong enough to beat them and drive them back with bloody heads."

"The proposed landing in Belgium? We are fully prepared for any attempt in this direction; the sooner it comes the better."

"What effect upon the German conduct of the war," General Von Falkenhayn was asked, "has the British blockade and contraband policy exercised?"

"Practically none at all," he replied. "Of food we have enough. Have you observed any scarcity in Germany? We may have to husband certain things and be sparing with our wheat consumption, but our 'war bread' (referring to the bread made from the prescribed admixture of rye and potato meal to wheat flour) is quite as tasty and nutritious as the regular wheat bread."

"The problem of feeding the civil populations of Belgium, Poland and the occupied parts of France, particularly such cities as Lille or Lodz, presents some difficulties, but for ourselves we have enough."

No Copper Scarcity?

"As for the embargo on copper," General Von Falkenhayn laughed, "we have no copper underground, it is true, but above ground we have more than enough for all military needs. If our regular supplies become exhausted we need only draw on the enormous quantities of manufactured copper already in Germany. In our cables for transmitting high-tension electricity, for instance, we have a couple of years' supply."

"British interference with copper shipments, it seems to me, is a heavy blow for America, but for us it is nothing."

"How long, Your Excellency, do you think the war may last or can last? Lord Kitchener's three years?"

"It can last," said the German chief-of-staff, picking out that particular part of the question, "indefinitely for us. I see nothing that can force us to stop fighting."

"With food and materials we are amply supplied. Our strategic position is good. Human material? Do you know that the recruits of the 1915 class are to be called to the colors. October 1, 1915, is the normal date. I was occupying myself with this question yesterday. Does that look as if there is a lack of soldiers? We have more troops in Berlin today than in peace times. They still need training, however. No men are sent to the front without adequate preparation."

"Enthusiasm? You have been at the front and know that there is no slackening in the zeal of the men for their task. No! We can go on indefinitely."

"And in this war, in which Kalmucks, Kamchatkans, Turco-mans, Senegal negroes, Indians, and what not, have been brought in to maintain in the white man's Europe the so-called balance of power; if in this war to crush a nation whose offense is that, through industry and hard work, it has prospered and is prospering, we should go down, fighting to the last ditch and the last man."

TREASON CHARGE AGAINST WEALTHY TORONTO IMPORTER

Toronto, Jan. 27.—"Why is that man not in the dock? He is here charged with treason, and treason is treason."

In these words Magistrate Denison greeted Emile Nerlich, the wealthy importer, as he stood beside his counsel in the Police Court. Nerlich had been taken from the jail to the detectives' office for an interview with his lawyers and Inspector Kennedy and Magistrate Denison thought that he should not be allowed such liberties. He said so, and declared that there was no such thing as bail when the preliminary trial was postponed until tomorrow. The court was filled with prominent businessmen.
