WARNS STUDENTS AGAINST "SPOONING"

"Misdirected Lowering of Love," Avers Y. M. C. A. Lecturer University.

Seattle, Jan. 29—"Spooning" is a violation of the fundamental principles of chivalry. It lowers the respect for women, for it breaks down a woman's reserve, her greatest protection. It is a misdirected lowering of love. No man can afford to indulge in spooning, and he should refrain from it. The temptation is the more incidious because it usually starts by accident.

Dr. M. J. Exner, a member of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., in this way warned 300 students at the University of Washington last night in an address on "A Rational Fight for Self-Mastery in the Sphere of Sex." The talk was delivered in Meany Hall, on the university campus under the auspices of the college branch of the Y. M. C. A.
"Promiscuous spooning on the part of man," continued Dr. Exner, "demoralizes the powers of concentration and application, man's two greatest weapons for success in the world. Spooning exercises a destructive effect on man's intellectuality, for it mis-directs his most useful power of imagination."

SIR WILFRID LAURIER SPEAKS ABOUT CANADA AND THE WAR

POINTS OUT FOLLY OF 1911 CAMPAIGN—SPEAKS OF COMFORT EVEN THE RAINBOW GAVE TO BRITISH COLUMBIA —OLD CHIEF LOYAL TO THE CORE.

The following are selections from a recent speech given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Montreal and are worthy of Canada's first statesman:

"Do not forget that the fact that Britain was at war constituted for Canada a new condition of things, which imposed new duties upon the Government, upon the Opposition and upon the whole Canadian people. The moment that Great Britain was at war, Canada was at war. This is a truth which while we were in office we had not only to proclaim, but for which we had to provide in a manner consonant with the new condition, a new situation created by the development of Canada, not as a colony, but as a nation within the British Empire.

"These truths were not accepted by all. It was the occasion of a great deal of misrepresentation; it contributed very much towards the defeat which we suffered in 1911, but for my part let me say here that I have no regrets. Better be it ten times over and more that we should stand here defeated for having had the courage of presenting to the Canadian people new duties which have had effects, rather than to still be in office by having shirked the duty which was incumbent upon the administration.

"But at that time, it was easy to appeal to prejudices, but the truth that when Britain is at war, Canada is at war also, came in only too concrete a manner, for after the declaration of war, right here in the city of Montreal you had your harbor full of ships loaded with the produce of the land ready to take to the sea, still remaining here owing to the war, because if they had taken to the sea they would have been liable to seizure by the enemy. They did not and could not take to the seas until the ocean had been swept by the British navy, and until the British navy was ready to escort them, until the duty was forthcoming by the British navy which in my opinion shrouded in my conviction it behooved the Canadian people to do themselves.

Canada Self-Reliant.

"Still more evidence had you that when Great Britain is at war, Canada is at war; when only within the last three weeks the German ambassador at Washington, declared that Germany might and could invade Canada, and when the discussion was taken up as to the consequences of an invasion by Germany in view of the Monroe Doctrine. Whatever the Monroe Doctrine may mean, it is not a principle of international law. It is a matter of policy for the American government and the American people. Whatever it may mean, according to the interpretation given to it by an eminent authority in the United States, it is only for the American people to dictate. I have always been an admirer of the American people. I have always desired that Canada should maintain with them the most friendly relations possible, and I take some pride in believing that when we left office in 1911 the relations between the United States and Canada were far more cordial than when we went in office in 1896. But notwithstanding all this, I say as a Canadian, that if ever Canada has to be saved, I don't want it to be saved by the Monroe doctrine, but by the efforts of the Canadian people themselves, not that if we had to defend our country against a German invasion, that I would not be ready to accept the assistance of the American people, but I do not want to ask it. I want the Canadian people to rely upon themselves, and need I tell you, gentlemen, that no nation is worthy of being a nation unless it is ready at all times to defend its own independence and to fight for it if needs be.

Freedom Breeds Liberty

"We are a free people, absolutely free. The charter under which we live has put it in our power to say whether we should take part in such a war or not.
It is for the Canadian people, the Canadian Parliament and the Canadian Government alone to decide. This freedom is at once the glory and honor of Britain, which granted it, and Canada, which uses it to assist Britain.
Freedom is the keynote of all British institutions. You find it from the lowest to the highest rung in the ladder. There is no conscription in Britain. There never was and there never shall be. We have heard it discussed by eminent authorities that Great Britain will be found to follow suit and have recourse to conscription like France, Germany and Italy. Conscription is repugnant to the British character.
The British are never inclined to go to war, slow always to go to war, never preparing until they are in it, but generally manage to get on top at the end of it.
There is no compulsion upon those dependencies of Great Britain which have reached the stature of Dominions, such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and such Crown dependencies as India. They are all free to take part or not as they think best. That is the British freedom, which much to the surprise of the world, and greatly to the dismay of the German Emperor, German professors and German diplomats, caused this rush from all parts of the British Empire to assist the mother country in this stupendous struggle. Freedom breeds loyalty.
Coercion always was the mother of rebellion. But even in these circumstances when we see the magnificent results of the British system of government complete, not only in the United Kingdom, but complete throughout the Empire, men there are in this country, men there are in England, who believe that the present mode of freedom should be replaced by a system of concentration and obligation and make obligatory what up to date has been voluntary. While there are men who preach this doctrine, there are others who believe that the British Empire can be maintained only upon the lines upon which it has been founded, freedom and diversity. If there were not in a time of war, I would tell you that upon which of the two systems we Liberals have long ago taken our stand. But we are at war, and war time is not the proper time to discuss problems of such magnitude and far-reaching consequences. At the present time the only thing we have to think of is to finish the war, and to adjourn to a future date those domestic problems which will have to be taken up later.

Danger of Raids

"There is no fear of a German invasion of Canada so long as Great Britain maintains its supremacy upon the seas. But though there is no fear of an invasion at the present time and though I refuse to contemplate the possibility of a defeat of the Allied armies, still even today under conditions as they are, there is no danger from which Canada is never free and that is the possibility of a raid upon our border cities. British Columbia contemplated this at the opening of the war. They were anxious to have the small and much despised Rainbow. A crew was once more put upon the Niobe at the other end of the Dominion, and even in this often called tin-pot navy, there was security for our trade and for the maritime cities.
There was danger, I say. That danger was lessened some three weeks ago when the Emden, the German cruiser, was run down and sunk by the battleship Sydney which belonged to the Australian navy. The danger was still more lessened only three days ago by the victory of Admiral Sturdee off the Falkland Islands. But still let us remember that so long as the war exists there is always some danger, but for my part I don't want to touch too much upon this subject because I hope and indeed I believe that the government is wide awake to the situation and that they are taking precautions against such a danger.

Why Support the Government?

"I was asked by someone why should I support the government in their policy of sending men to the front. Why should not the Liberal party have remained quiet and passive and let all the worries be left to the government?
My answer was: 'I have no particular love for the government, but I love my country, I love the land of my ancestors, France. I love the land of liberty above all, England, and rather than that I in my position of Leader of the Liberal party, should remain passive and quiescent, I would rather go out of public life, and altogether.

No Cause for Election

"If in the month of June or July last there was no cause for an election, still less in the month of December of the same year is there cause for an election. The war is still on. Upon the policy introduced by the government to discharge the duties we owe to the mother country, we have taken no issue with the government. We have supported their policy, and, therefore, there is no cause for an appeal to the country. Then for my part arguing from these premises, I say that I do not believe that the government seriously entertains the possibility of having an election, reversing their opinion of July, even if they were urged by some ardent, but misguided men."— Liberal Monthly.
