GOOD-BYE, HERBIE!

Did you see our little Herbert? He's just lately been in town. From Ottawa to Rupert, He's a man of great renown. At talking he's a wonder, 'Tho he hasn't much to say. Yet on, and on, he'll blunder. That is how he earns his pay.

He will tell you how the Tories Are in love with old B. C. And also of the glories Of the fishes in the sea; The codfish, and the halibut, Sockeye salmon, and the skate; And what a figure he will cut For the Yankees and free bait.

The workingman he also loves— He's for him all the time. It's plain in everything he does, That's why I pen this rhyme. The contract system he'll reject And give us all a job. If only him we'll re-elect. That's easy now, by gosh!

This is the same old story We've been listening to for years. Indeed, it is so hoary I am almost shedding tears. To think that when election comes, Poor Bert we'll have to shake For we're not satisfied with crumbs— We want the blooming cake.

So good-bye, little Herbie, 'Tho we're sorry you must go. Still, we'll admit you're nervy, But awful, awful slow. And as it is the swift, you see, Who always win the race, To Rupert our best gift will be A live wire in your place. —C. H.

ROCKEFELLER GIFTS HAVE USED A "PULL"

But It Has Always Been for Good, Says Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard.

New York, Feb. 5.—Rockefeller donations to educational institutions have influenced the policies of presidents of universities and colleges in many instances, but the influence has always been good, according to Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, a witness at the continuation of the Federal Industrial Commission's inquiry into philanthropic foundations and the causes of social unrest.

These donations, Mr. Eliot said, to which he referred were made by the General Education Board. As an instance he cited John D. Rockefeller's offer in 1908 to furnish one million dollars to Harvard University if the university would raise $875,000 additional. Dr. Eliot said he believed that legislation providing for uniform minimum wage schedules and working hours was a bad thing. "Conditions are different in all industries," he said. "What would be good for one body of workers would be bad for another."

One reason why workers found it so hard to make their wages go as far as they should, Dr. Eliot said, was because they bought and ate too much meat. The witness was opposed to child labor. He would like to see a general law prohibiting the employment of children under sixteen years of age in industries where the children would have to work indoors at machines.

The Germans have found a trip to Ostend almost as costly in time of war as it is in time of peace.

URGES GERMANY TO SEEK EARLY PEACE

New Austrian Foreign Minister Anxious to Save Dual Monarchy.

London, Feb. 5.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Copenhagen asserts that Baron Burian, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, at his recent meeting with the German Emperor, drew a doleful picture of the plight of the dual monarchy and urged that the time had arrived for the Germanic powers to consider most seriously the possibilities for a tolerable peace.

The Daily Mail attaches great importance to the dispatch, which is dated Thursday week and was delayed in transmission. The dispatch says further:

"Baron Burian, whose sole object it is to save what can be saved of the dual monarchy, represented to the Germans that the situation in Austria was precarious and that if the Russian advance on Budapest is not stopped the effect may very probably be the downfall of Austria and the complete collapse of Hungary, which must later entail as a logical sequence also the downfall of Germany."

"Therefore Baron Burian urged that the Russians must at all costs be repulsed and that Germany must send large reinforcements to Hungary to prevent a catastrophe. In any case, he said, it was doubtful if it would be possible for them to resist the Russians and Servians and perhaps the Roumanians. Therefore it was necessary seriously to examine into the question of peace."

"A definite defeat would mean a debacle for Austria-Hungary and the partition of the empire. His advice to Germany was to consider most seriously the possibilities of a tolerable peace. He advised Germany not to reject fundamentally the thought of peace on the grounds of a probable disarmament of Europe. If Germany were disposed to treat on such terms he believed other conditions would be tolerable."

"The leading German statesmen admitted Baron Burian's intentions were excellent, and some of them justified by circumstances, but they declared such a plan would be more ruinous to Germany than Austria. Disarmament in Europe, they continued, would only mean that Great Britain would police the whole world and Germany would have lost all chance for safeguarding her commerce, industrial and economic interests."
