LOCATE PINNACLE ROCK 600 FEET IN HEIGHT

Washington, Feb. 22.—Secretary Redfield, in a statement just issued, says that Field Engineer John A. Daniels, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, during the last field season located by wire drag survey twenty-one dangerous pinnacle rocks in forty-two miles of ship channel in Alaska.

One rock is of pyramid shape, and rises over 600 feet from the bottom of the channel to within seventeen feet of the water level. Mr. Daniels calls it a submerged Washington monument.

The pinnacles were found in Revillagigedo Channel, Nichols Passage and Tongas Narrows. "The area covered by the wire drag," says Secretary Redfield, "was sixty square miles. The cost for each danger discovered was $675. The cost of the wreck of the steamer State of California was thirty-one lives and over $300,000."

For a comfortable room, come to the St. Elmo Hotel, 836 Second Avenue, near Eighth Street. Newly opened. Steam heat and hot and cold water in every room. Free baths. Rates reasonable.

$100 FOR A NEWSPAPER.

Chicago Packer Pays High Price and Aids Charity.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Newspapers sold for 1 cent to $100 on the street corners here today and raised between $7,000 and $8,000 for charity, when old-time newsboys took possession of their old corners and sold papers for charity. J. Ogden Armour, packer, paid $100 for his evening paper, which he bought from Charles A. McCulloch, who sold papers near the stock yards a score of years ago.

DAMAGES ASKED.

BELLA COOLA NOTES

J. Pask, of Vancouver, came up this week and is taking a look over the place.

A list of passengers leaving this place by the last southbound steamer was a rather lengthy one, but when it is understood that these people are either visiting relatives in different parts or merely making short business trips to the city any doubts as to the desirability of Bella Coola Valley as a place of residence will be quickly dispelled.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hanson are making an extended visit to friends in the States. They also intend to take in the exhibition at San Francisco before returning in the spring.

Mr. G. B. Olson is also taking a well earned and much needed vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Macfarlane and J. R. Morrison left on Wednesday for a two weeks' trip to Victoria on business.

For some time past certain local business men, impressed with the excellent opening for a sawmill at this place, have been using their best endeavors towards bringing this industry into our midst. We are now pleased to be able to state that arrangements are practically complete, and with the success of the present effort to secure a suitable site, it will not be long before the plans of these gentlemen will mature. For many years there has been a deplorable waste of excellent timber throughout the valley by the clearing of land for agricultural purposes. The installation of a sawmill will eliminate such waste and prove a great incentive to those who have been loth to sacrifice good timber in order to clear up a ranch.

A welcome innovation is to come into effect throughout the valley the beginning of next month with the inauguration of the system of rural postal delivery. The postoffices in the valley are far apart and many settlers have, for years been put to considerable inconvenience and loss of time through being compelled to make frequent trips of many miles to the nearest post-office. The mail boxes are expected to arrive shortly, when the final arrangements will be completed.

The long awaited fall of snow has not yet arrived and it would now seem as though we were to have no real winter weather this season. With the shrubs budding and the sun getting stronger every day it looks like an early spring. While no one is complaining at the mildness of the winter, yet there are those whom a fall of snow would greatly benefit, especially the local sawmills, which are experiencing great difficulty in getting in a sufficient supply of logs to meet the coming season's demand.

Late arrivals from the interior report an exceptionally mild winter, with only about ten inches of snow. Cattle and horses are still rustling out in the Anaham Lake district and are in plentiful condition. Fur is very plentiful and although trapping is not being carried on to any great extent owing to the low price of fur, there have been some very good catches made up to now, and it is probable that some big lots will reach Bella Coola in the spring.

Mr. S. Colborne, of the Salmoot Valley, visited town during the week. He reports that the settlers in that quarter are taking full advantage of the mild weather to vigorously pursue the arduous task of clearing their ranches.—Bella Coola Courier.

WHERE IS ROBERT GOSDEN?

Robert Gosden, the erstwhile firebrand of the late Miner's Liberation League and the I. W. W., and who achieved notoriety by stating at a meeting of the league in the Horse Show Building that Attorney General Bowser might find poison in his coffee some morning, or be "accidentally" shot while out on a shooting expedition, is now employed as a janitor in Parliament Buildings, Victoria. All mail for him should be sent "care of Sir Richard McBride."—B. C. Federationist.

Gosden was one of the Rupert pioneer I. W. W. leaders and made a reputation for himself during the Kelly Cut riot. How are the mighty fallen!

It's coming. Watch for it. We make. You make. We both make. 44-5

PARKER WILLIAMS DEPLORES SPECIAL TAXES FOR FARMERS

tatoes out of muskeg. And yet you allow the one to have free machinery and tax the other. There is absolutely no logic in the tariff processes but that is the process. If you allowed farm machinery to come in free like other machinery you would find that the British Columbia fruit growers could compete in the open market without having to make this appeal for protection."

At this point the speaker suggested that the honorable gentleman was getting away from the text of the resolution.

Mr. Williams maintained that he was well within the mark, seeing that the question of the tariff as it affected the fruit industry was brought in in Mr. Lucas' very inclusive resolution. The reason that the fruit grower had to cry for help was that he was placed by the tariff at a disadvantage throughout Canada. Take the firebrick for an instance, which every factory had to have for its boilers, and drain tiles, which were of as great necessity on the farm, and both allied manufactures. The manufacturer was able to line his fireboxes with brick on which he had to pay no duty, but the poor farmer had to pay 17 1/2 per cent on his tiles. Was there a clearer case of discrimination against the man on the farm than that? The duty on the grindstone over thirty-six inches, which was the only kind geared to power, was only one-half what was charged on the smaller size, the sort the farmer turned by hand. The chemicals used for fertilizers and sprays was charged 26 per cent, while chemicals for use of manufacturers and for the got in free.
