LOCAL CHAUFFEUR

COULDN'T GET JOB

Editor, The Daily News:

Sir—I notice from your issue of yesterday that the city has sent to Vancouver for a chauffeur for the fire auto. They also state that this was done because none could be had locally.

It appears that the authorities were not very anxious to find out whether there were any here or not. They never advertised for or looked for local men that I heard of.

I have been a chauffeur on all kinds of cars for eleven years and can give suitable references to satisfy anyone concerned that I am competent. For the last year and a half I have been in Prince Rupert and have driven autos for Alf Halligan, Bert Long, and the Prince Rupert Auto Co., by which company I have been employed for past ten months.

I am a British subject, and have been eleven years in Canada. Under these circumstances I do not think it is fair to pass over me and go outside for a man.

Yours truly,
S. A. BURGESS.

TURKEY PREPARING TO RENEW CONFLICT

Urged by Germany, Would Create New Erzerum Garrison—A Difficult Task.

Petrograd, March 1.—Urged on by their German masters, the Turks are making preparations for renewing the conflict in the spring. Men liable for military service between the ages of 24 and 47 years have been called to the colors. Efforts are being made to create a new garrison for Erzerum, but the difficulties of communication make it a prolonged business. The Turks are unable to move any troops by the Black Sea routes, and the journey is long and difficult even for men, to say nothing of munitions and supplies. The Russians keep the Black Sea coast effectually swept, and many coast towns are already suffering from a shortness of provisions. The Persian province of Azerbaijan is now clear of Turkish troops. There is hardly any activity on the Russian fronts in Asia, sometimes days together passing without even an outpost skirmish.

Now that the Russians have re-established command over the western districts of Persia the Turks cannot bring up Mesopotamian armies to reinforce the shattered remnants of the northern armies. On the other hand, the Russians hold the Black Sea coasts with their fleet, whose small craft regularly patrol it. These two factors govern the situation in Asia at present.

LOYD GEORGE SAYS LASTING PEACE SURE

International Pledge to Respect Neutrality and Chastise Offenders.

New York, March 3.—In an interview granted to Henry Beech Needham, the American writer, copyrighted by him, and printed in the current issue of Collier's Weekly, David Lloyd George admits that all records for cost of warfare have already been shattered. But he believes the cost—$2,500,000,000 for the first year—will be justified by the lasting peace and the reduction in costly armaments, including a reduction in the cost of Great Britain's naval maintenance.

In the interview, Lloyd George denies emphatically the German contentions that the east coast cities of Whitby and Scarborough were fortified. He denounces the German Zeppelin raid as "by far the most serious menace against civilization that Germany has yet launched."

"Here is an attack from the air upon absolutely defenceless towns," declares Lloyd George. "Workmen's cottages were destroyed and old men and women were killed. Can you imagine what it would mean if the Allies determined upon reprisals? This war, horrible enough as it is, would become a hundred times more ghastly and would end in a wholesale massacre of helpless men, women, and children, in the cities of Germany, France, Austria, Russia, and Great Britain. The prospect is a shuddering one, but that is what it may mean."

"I know it is part of the German policy to represent our interference as a calculated move of selfish craft to capture the trade and shipping of a dangerous rival and to annex colonies which had excited our greed. But this, I know, is true: After the guarantee given that the German fleet would not attack the coast of France or annex any French territory, I would not have been a party to any declaration of war had Belgium not been invaded, and I think I can say the same thing for most, if not all, of my colleagues. If Germany had been wise she would not have set foot on Belgian soil. The Liberal government then would not have intervened. Germany made a grave mistake."

"I believe when peace comes it will be predicated first of all upon new geographical boundaries—boundaries based upon national lines on the will of the respective peoples; and, secondly, on a mutual pledge of the signatories, not only to respect guaranteed neutrality, but to chastise the nation which offers to break the international compact."

TWO NEW REGIMENTS

To Be Raised for Third Overseas Contingent.

Ottawa, March 3.—The formation of two new infantry regiments for the Third Overseas Contingent has, it is understood, been decided upon. One of them will be established in what is known as New Ontario, taking in such cities as Port Arthur and Fort William, the town of Kenora, etc. An additional regiment of infantry will also be raised in the Maritime provinces, where it was first intended to have one regiment of infantry and one of cavalry. The suggestion has been made that Col. Hugh McLean, M. P., for Queens-Sunbury of St. John, may possibly be appointed brigadier for the new brigade of infantry for the Third Overseas Contingent.
