COUNCIL MEETING IN THE OPERA HOUSE?

Prince Rupert's Council has many exhibitions of comical farce and tragic, in its career, but perhaps tonight's meeting will cap them all. It is safe to say that every man in the city will attend in order to hear the part of the city solicitor regarding the disqualification of the Mayor and Alderman Morrissey.

It is why not turn this tragedy into a money-maker? It has been suggested that the meeting be held in the opera house and that an admission fee of 50 cents be charged for the benefit of the Pauper Fund. The event will be worth four bits and the Pauper Fund needs the money.

TERRACE ROASTED WILLIAM MANSON-- ONLY HIRED ROOTERS CHEERED HIM

William Thinks Women Are Not Intelligent Enough Yet to Vote--Has Hopes That by and by They May Come up to Standard, Then He Will Favor Women Suffrage.

Terrace, March 28.—William Manson arrived in Terrace Saturday to hold the opening meeting of his campaign in the forthcoming Provincial elections. Having remembered the hot reception he received on his last visit to Terrace, he decided to take no chances on having a vote of censure on the McBride government passed at this meeting, so he brought fourteen stalwart Conservatives from Prince Rupert along with him. The Progress Club Hall was well filled, after the "stalwarts" were all seated, but it was not crowded as it was a week ago at the Liberal meeting held by Mr. Pattullo.

Mr. Manson opened his meeting with a bitter attack on The Daily News, and condemned that paper very vigorously.

He said that the Liberals of the province had no platform whatever to give to the people, but later in the evening when the Liberal platform was produced by Mr. L. H. Kenney, it was found that Mr. Manson also had one in his pocket.

He defended the government on all its legislation for the past twelve years and particularly on its railway legislation which has mortgaged the province to the railways to the extent of eighty-five million dollars.

He told the ladies at the meeting that he hoped to be in the Legislature long enough to support a bill in favor of woman's suffrage.

He defended W. J. Bowser in all of his doings, and completely exonerated him from any connection or responsibility with the Dominion Trust Company, saying that if the people would put their money into such corporations that they must expect to lose it.

He dwelt at great length on the "Loans to Farmers" bill, but could hold out no prospect as to when this money would be available. All he could assure the meeting was that it would be when the war was done and the money market more settled.

He spoke about the prospect of the railroad to be built through this district to the coal fields by the Thomas syndicate and promised the meeting that he would use his best influence to have the government co-operate with them in building a bridge across the Skeena that might also be used for a traffic bridge. Thus the people of the Lakelse Valley have the pleasant prospect that in the future they may be able to get to Terrace, a distance of one mile, by walking down to the Zimmaquit and up the G. T. P. Railway track, a distance of fifteen miles.

Mr. Manson noticed that the meeting was getting fidgety at his uninteresting and lengthy address, so he closed by predicting a Conservative sweep at the polls. The applause at the finish of his speech was led by the Prince Rupert contingent, augmented only by the road foremen of the district and other government employees.

Mr. L. H. Kenney, president of the local Liberal Association, arose to ask some questions, but the loud cries of "Platform, platform," caused the chairman of the evening, Mr. Braun, to invite Mr. Kenney to the platform.

The applause and hand-clapping at this stage was the loudest of the whole evening and Mr. Manson and his Prince Rupert supporters were clearly disconcerted at the marked contrast in the feeling shown. Mr. Kenney accused Mr. Manson of having tried to deceive the ladies present and the voters by promising to support a bill in favor of women's suffrage. He asked Mr. Manson if he had ever had an opportunity to vote for such a bill.

Mr. Manson: "I did."

Mr. Kenney: "Did you support it?"

Mr. Manson: "I did not consider that the time was ripe for the women of British Columbia to have the vote."

The laughter at Mr. Manson's embarrassment in being caught in his own trap moved the whole meeting.

Mr. Kenney asked Mr. Manson if he could tell him what the yearly revenue from his constituency amounted to; but he could not even give a rough estimate. (More laughter.)

Exception was taken to Mr. Manson's statement that the Liberals had no platform, and Mr. Kenney drew one from his pocket. (Cries of "Read it.") Each plank in the platform was read and discussed separately by Mr. Kenney. In discussing the "Loans to Farmers" plank, Mr. Manson was censured for bringing along with him for distribution to the voters, a pamphlet purporting to be the loans to farmers bill, but which only gave sections No. 36, 37 and

PERCY GODENRATH WRITES FROM FRONT

A picture postal has just been received at this office from P. F. Godenrath, who went to the front with the second contingent. The picture gives a view of Queens-town Harbor, where the transports landed, and at the time of writing they had been anchored in the harbor for thirty hours, apparently not afraid of the German submarines. Mr. Godenrath said that at the time of writing "the Prince Rupert bunch" were "all happy and well and keen to get into camp."

BELITTLE B. C. WOMEN

William Manson showed up very badly at the Terrace meeting when he got mixed up in the woman suffrage question. In one moment he was telling the Terrace ladies that he hoped before long to have the pleasure of supporting a bill giving votes to women; a few minutes later he was telling Mr. Kenney that he voted down a woman's suffrage bill two years ago because the province was not then ripe for it. This being the case, the inference is that the women will have evolved enough within a few years more to deserve the right to vote. The Liberals believe the women of British Columbia are already as intelligent as the men and vastly superior to many who now vote and they are ready to give them the franchise. The Tories refuse it because they know the women would not support the machine.

MAYOR AND MORRISSEY NOT YET RESIGNED

No official resignation has yet been received from the Mayor or Alderman Morrissey, but it is understood that they will be in tonight before Council meeting. At any rate, they cannot take their seats without endangering themselves by another fine. An acting mayor will have to be appointed tonight, who will hold the position until another is elected. It is understood that they will both be candidates for office again. A fine of $2,500 each is still hanging over their heads in any case. It is not known whether there will be any opposition or not.

Bubbles outside the harbor now show the location of the leaking submarine.

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION BILL IS VETOED IN UTAH

Disapproved by Gov. Spry After Both Houses With Big Majorities.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 27.—Governor Spry has filed with the Secretary of State his veto of the Wootton state-wide prohibition bill, which passed the recent Legislature by a vote of 40 to 5 in the House and 16 to 2 in the Senate. As the Legislature has adjourned, the Governor's veto of the measure is final.

The veto cites the local option law of the state as affording prohibition to such communities as desire it, especially with the operation of the new "dry territory" bill, which the Governor approved this week.

His concluding objection is that the bill abolishes the saloon and makes the druggist the dispenser of alcohol and wine on a physician's prescription, "with the generous allowance of a maximum of one quart of liquor under each prescription."
