AMERICAN PRESIDENT'S NOTE TO GERMANY

LAST PONTOON OF DRYDOCK IS LAUNCHED -- FRENCH TAKE 6,000 PRISONERS

FORTY THOUSAND ALIENS INTERNED

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, May 14.—Recent happenings have stirred up so much feeling in London that the government has decided on an extensive measure of internment. Forty thousand Germans, Austrians and Turks will be lined up today and interned. All men over military age and all women and children will be deported.

EVERYTHING WENT LIKE CLOCKWORK

The last pontoon of the drydock took the water like a duck at night, everything moving like clockwork. As Superintendent Crowell made the release, the great engine room whistle raised its voice for the first time.

After the launching the company, which must have numbered over three hundred, was invited to partake of a sumptuous supper of ham chowder, coffee, sandwiches and cake, two long tables being spread in the moulding loft above the shipbuilding shed.

Mr. Crowell addressed the gathering and expressed great assurance at the harmony which existed amongst the men, and stated that he never wished for better workmen than he had here at Prince Rupert.

Mr. W. T. Donnelly expressed pleasure in being able to be present and highly complimented the men concerned on the high standard of work they had produced. He hoped that Prince Rupert drydock would do great work every day and expressed willingness to do everything he possibly could to bring business to it.

SCOTTISH SELECTORS' HARD PROPOSITION

There was quite a large gathering of spectators at the Recreation Ground last night to witness the football trial game put on by the Scottish selectors, which augurs well for the success of the football season. The game throughout was very interesting, and the array of talent displayed goes to show what a difficult task Selectors Smith, Brighton and Neilsen have in selecting the representative team. The game ended in a win for the Blue team by two goals to one, a result which was mainly due to the more open methods of the winning team's forwards. It was to be regretted, however, that towards the finish the game was rather spoiled by the rough tactics of numerous players, who would do well to remember that this is not the first year of the game locally and that most of the players who have helped to bring the game to what it is in Rupert are indeed fairly conversant with the rules. Such tactics will not tend to keep football in the forefront of true British sport and the players should realize that to play the game and play it fair is to their own advantage and means larger crowds at the games.

HOW THE TROUBLE STARTED IN VICTORIA

Visitors from Victoria claim that the anti-German trouble there began very simply. It appears that a number of Germans were celebrating the "great submarine victory" in a German hotel, having a picture of the Lusitania, with a German flag flying, fixed up over the bar. Britishers in the hotel naturally showed resentment, which eventually developed into disorder and destruction.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S DEMANDS

(Special to The Daily News.)

Washington, May 14.—President Wilson's note, which was presented today, calls attention to the "unlawful and inhumane destruction of the Lusitania and other violation of American rights on the high seas."

Germany is asked to disavow the act of the submarine commander in torpedoing, without warning, the Lusitania and the Gulfport, and to make reparation as far as possible and to take steps to prevent a recurrence of such action. No time is set for a reply and no course is indicated in the event of non-compliance.

The note concludes with the statement that it is the duty of the United States government to omit no word or act deemed necessary to defend the rights of the American people.

Embassy officials forecast that the German reply will attempt to justify submarine warfare, and insist on their right to destroy vessels carrying contraband.

It is supposed that President Wilson will not fight, but will denounce Germany as an outlaw among nations and will discontinue all relations and seize all interned vessels if attacks are made.

ENTERPRISING PRINCE RUPERT DAIRYMAN

Mr. John Schaefer, proprietor of Prince Rupert Dairy, has just planned a new and ambitious venture. He has decided to open up a dairy farm in the Bulkley Valley, on which he will keep a hundred cows. Mr. Schaefer's idea is to run the farm in conjunction with his present business, having the dairy here distribute his produce.

He is installing the latest butter-making plant and intends to supply this city with the finest of butter and cream at reasonable rates. Everything will be carried out under the most sanitary conditions. A milking machine will take the place of hand work, so that the milk will never be in the slightest danger of contamination through handling.

Mr. Schaefer expects to have his new business in full swing by the middle of July and deserves every credit for his enterprise.
