DIGBY ISLAND A FAVORITE SPOT

Victoria Day really opens the summer season of Prince Rupert, and yesterday saw a most auspicious beginning. Over the weekend, the weather was delightful, and yesterday was the finest day of the summer so far. Weekend camping parties on the various islands had a glorious time, and, amongst the ladies, face cream will be in demand for days.
One of the most popular spots for picnic parties was Digby Island. Though close to the city's doorstep, it is an ideal spot. Each season sees an improvement there, and, this year, the patch around the hospital is a veritable garden of Eden.
Mr. Smith has done wonders in the way of raising plants in beds of broken shells, and in a few weeks' time the borders will be a riot of bloom, while the lawn is a terrace of green velvet. The utilitarian side has not been neglected, as all kinds of garden truck are well forward, Mr. Smith being able to boast of potato plants fully eighteen inches high already.

RED CROSS DAY AT TERRACE YESTERDAY

CHARGE OF SEDITION AGAINST EASTERN MAN

A man called Ross Bell, who hails from Prince Edward Island, was brought up at the Police Court this morning on a charge of sedition, the charge being laid by a well known citizen.
The charge is that the accused, in the presence of several persons on Sunday, made the following statement:
"I hope the Germans will cut the heart out of every damned Canadian who went to the war."
It appears that Bell was under the influence of liquor at the time and got into a heated political discussion, and does not remember what he said. As a matter of fact, he recently wanted to go to the front but was turned down on account of his age.
Bell will be tried before His Honor Judge Young.
