WAS AT ST. JULIEN, NOT LANGEMARCK

Toronto, June 19.—Major General Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, was in Toronto for half an hour yesterday on the way to Niagara Falls and London camps.

"How is enlistment?" asked a reporter.
 "Fine," said the general. "We have the 35,000 we want almost all secured now. We have over 120,000 men organized and under arms in addition. We are getting a good class of men. Everything in that direction is going well. We will soon have 157,000 men under arms."

General Hughes declared that there was a common mistake made in referring to the action in which the Canadians figured so gloriously as "the battle of Langemarck."
 "The Canadians were not at Langemarck. That was where the Algerians fled. Our men were at St. Julien and that is the name we should give to this action," said the general.

The general is loud in his praise of the French infantry also. He thinks they have done superb fighting.

FROST AT SASKATOON.

Saskatoon, June 19.—There were several degrees of frost again last night, which touched tender garden plants, but inquiry up to noon shows no injury to the big field crop.
