AMERICA AND EUROPE.

The movement known as Pan-Americanism is making remarkable headway. It involves no hostility to the nations dwelling on any other continent, but it does mean better relations among our own affairs and those of our immediate neighbors, but the other nations, which we know generally as the Latin-American Republics, we seldom hear of, except when they are suffering from some domestic trouble, as Mexico is today.

Yet there is no doubt that these republics are destined to play a great part and growing part in the world. South America is nearly twice as large as Europe. Brazil and Bolivia together are as large as Europe. Argentina is larger than Germany, Austria-Hungary, and France. Of course, we know that national greatness cannot be measured in square miles. But square miles represent opportunities—possible homes for men, women, and children who may change the destinies of the world. South America, which today has a smaller population than Austria-Hungary, will undoubtedly contain a larger population than Europe. Europe is undoubtedly destined to play a smaller and smaller part in the world, so far as population and wealth are concerned. If Europe is to hold her own, it must be by moral and intellectual superiority. That is the reason why European statesmen attach so much importance to plans for the government of Europe after the war. Unless Europe can govern itself it will sink into a condition of anarchy far worse than that of Mexico, and will fall behind in the march of civilization. If, on the other hand, European militarism is moderated as a result of this war, Europe will take its rightful position in the march of civilization.

In the meantime, it is gratifying to see that America is moving in the right direction. Canada has thrown itself upon the side in Europe which it believes to be right, which it believes will result in an ordered world, governed by justice rather than by force. The United States and the other American nations, while not actively engaged in the war, are undoubtedly anxious and desirous that civilization shall progress and that order shall prevail. They are American, but not anti-European. If Europe, after this war, can arrange its affairs so that Europe will cease to be a source of uneasiness and danger, there is no doubt that America will hail the settlement with joy.—Toronto Globe.

In the Letter Box

Editor, The Daily News:

Sir—Please allow me to ask a question of my friend, the "pro-British" Irishman.

What right has any one nation to dominate the waters of this planet? As long as there was a Jack Johnson there always would have been a "white hope." As long as the British Admiralty is determined to continue to dominate the waters of the seven seas, just so long will there be some toast, "To the Day"; if not German, Irish, if you please.

The ideal of a nation is the composite of the ideals of individuals. I didn't sign any "scrap of paper." My ideal is this: I will absolutely refuse to kill my brother man, even if he is duped into the idea that I want something that rightly belongs to him, even if he comes at me to take my liberty, my life. There is something in me that refuses to be taken captive; that refuses to die; that refuses to countenance war, the sum total of everything evil.

Read it again, brother.

G. L. CLAYTON HAS COLD STORAGE PROPOSITION

A proposal from Geo. L. Clayton regarding the establishment of a fish and cold storage plant in the city was brought before the City Council last night.

After describing at length the position of the fishing industry here and its possibilities for the future, the letter went on to state that if the Council is prepared to build a cold storage plant, costing about $150,000, Mr. Clayton's company will furnish the cash, accepting city debentures for ten or fifteen years, and will pay a fair rental for the plant for a stated period. The company claims to be able to bring fifty independent boats here permanently, which they state will increase the population of the city to about 7,000.

The matter was referred to the Fisheries Committee, the Mayor remarking that nothing could be done until they heard from the G. T. P. as to terms for a wharf site.

FAMOUS NOVELIST'S IDEA IS WORTH CONSIDERING

London, June 29.—H. G. Wells, in an article in the Daily Express, argues that a method for ending the war will be for the Allies to build and send a tremendous fleet of aeroplanes to the rear of the German lines and destroy all the German ammunition factories. He contends that it would be cheaper to launch 2,000 aeroplanes against Essen than to risk one battleship.

Coughing scatters germs—Stop it

Coughing increases the irritation of the already inflamed mucous membranes and is moreover apt to carry disease to others.

Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil promptly stops coughing, and soon, thanks to its tonic properties, effects a permanent cure.

The wonderful popularity of Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil is especially due to its great value as a permanent lung and bronchial healer.

Sold everywhere, 35c large bottles.

J. L. MATHIEU CO., Prop., Sherbrooke, P.Q.

For headaches use Mathieu's Vermin Powder—these are useful also to clean the floor and joints which often accompany colds. Use a box of 10 powders.

TAX SALE EXEMPTION FOR SOLDIERS AT FRONT

At the City Council last night a copy of a resolution passed by North Vancouver Council was read, asking that steps be taken to approach the provincial government with regard to property, owned by men at the front, which is liable to be sold for taxes at the next tax sale. The resolution proposed that such property be protected against tax sale during the period of the war and for six months after.

The resolution received the unanimous support of the Council on the motion of Alderman Dybhavn, seconded by Alderman Nicol.

A report from the city solicitor on the legal aspect of the question was read. Mr. Peters pointed out that, as the law stands at present, it is impossible to make any exemptions. Mr. Peters pointed out that the time for redemption would give ample opportunity to save such property.

U. S. FEDERAL ARSENAL CAN'T KEEP LABOR

Philadelphia, June 29.—Scores of skilled workmen are leaving the employ of the government arsenal at Frankfort to accept positions with private concerns that are supplying orders for munitions of war for the European belligerents. For the first time in years the arsenal is suffering from a shortage of employees, and officials fear the situation may become serious. The men declare they have been given three-year contracts with these private firms at wages far in excess of those paid by the government. According to officials at the arsenal, there is a federal statute which makes it unlawful for private concerns to use a promise of higher wages to induce an arsenal employee to leave the service of the government, and an investigation was said to be under consideration.
