Last evening before the time of the departure of the boat for the south, an impromptu concert was given in the St. Andrew's rooms with a bunch of the football players gathering around to give Davie Wiggins a send-off. Among yesterday's train arrivals were Harry Berryman and Jack Lochead of Port Edward who returned to the cannery by launch later in the evening.

SHOULD BE UNION OF CHURCHES SOON

The Editor of Christian Guardian Says There is Resentment at Presbyterian Delay.

Rev. Dr. W. B. Creighton, the editor of The Christian Guardian, returned yesterday from his annual tour of the Western Methodist Conferences.

In answer to a question regarding the churches in the West, Dr. Creighton stated that the local union churches were increasing rapidly, and that there was a feeling of impatience and resentment at the Presbyterian General Assembly not taking action toward the consummation of union this year.

"If there is any delay on the part of the Presbyterian Church officially at the next Assembly, the Western churches intend to go ahead with a union of their own, and there will be one Church west of the Great Lakes," said Dr. Creighton.

The doctor stated that the union churches in the West were organizing, and that they would hold their first annual council or conference in Regina next week. Rev. Dr. Chown is going west to attend this meeting, along with representatives of the other negotiating churches.
