Heard of Good Weather.

Evidently Prince Rupert's usual reputation for climate does not spread all over the world nor all over the American continent either. The commissioner of the Board of Trade received a letter from a man in San Diego, California, asking for full information about Prince Rupert to aid him in his quest for a city with a good climate to settle in. One would judge that this man had heard of the good climate and merely wanted further particulars. On Saturday over two hundred American tourists passed through the city after visiting Alaska and yesterday there were one hundred and seventy northbound on the Princess Mary. They could carry nothing but good reports of Prince Rupert weather to their southern homes.

Cemetery No Place for Dogs.

For some days past the city authorities have been notifying the public through the medium of the press that dogs were absolutely to be kept out of the cemetery unless on leash. It is reported that on several Sundays recently loose dogs have accompanied their owners to the cemetery and the caretaker has subsequently found the graves dug into and in many cases grass and plants destroyed, marring the orderliness of the place. Details need not be discussed any further than it is nothing but dog instinct to do these things. It will be nothing but common decency for dog owners to live up to the rules and the caretaker will be fully justified in shooting the trespassing animals.

Scientist Or Athlete?

Newspaper readers often comment on the publicity given to the achievements of the boxer, artists or athletes, as against that given to such as inventors or discoverers of useful things in this world. The remarks usually are made on the basis that the former are given more newspaper and magazine space than the latter. The question is not a new one. But is it altogether true that in the long run the newspapers and magazines do more attention to athletes, pugilists and artists than to the inventors of useful things?

Reflection of Public Opinion.

It is probable that the papers and magazines have published more about Edison and Marconi and Watt and Stevenson than they ever have about any prize fighter. The trouble is that a two column article on Marconi might pass unnoticed in a newspaper, while a two column article on Carpentier or Dempsey would stand out like a red flag on a house-top. When a newspaper fills its columns with a sport event it simply reflects the public sentiment. It is a phenomenon that is as hard to explain as this other phenomenon—that 1,000 people would go down to the dock to see Georges Carpentier arrive in Prince Rupert while, perhaps, a dozen might meet Thomas A. Edison. It cannot be said that Edison has not had plenty of publicity. Explain one case and you explain the other. Day in and day-out, year after year, we find that the inventor receives just as much, if not more, attention than the pugilist or athlete or actor. The publicity in one case is spectacular but temporary; in the other case it is quieter, but permanent.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

CHANGE IN ROAD RULES

After July 15, All Drivers in Prince Rupert Must Keep to the Right.

On and after Thursday, July 15, all car drivers and others navigating various conveyances along the streets in Prince Rupert will have to turn to the right according to the new amendment to the Highway Act passed at the recent sessions of the Provincial Legislature affecting the rule of the road. With this change British Columbia will commence the dropping of the obsolete "keep to the left" rule.

The old rule will remain in force in the southern cities of the province until next year as the cost of making changes to observe the new rules will make it impossible to carry out the work at present.

The provincial police will have charge of the work of bringing the new regulations into force. This section of the province is now being placarded with warnings of the change and the notices also appear in the newspapers.

The Man in the Moon SAYS--

THAT Premier Borden has spent a good deal of his holiday time in the United States, doubtless preparing to take up the responsible work of representing Canada at Washington.

THAT Captain Freeman seems to be getting a hearing for his gas boat reform proposals. Some day he is likely to win out, but by that time he will have learned to realize that the way of the reformer is hard.

THAT the car question you have always with you. That because the four-year-old son of a city father is seen wearing his dad's stove pipe hat on the street does not mean that dad is retiring from public life.

THAT it might mean that dad has joined the Social Movement and won't need the stove pipe any more.

THAT he cannot imagine the said city father in overalls, though, anymore than he could imagine the governor-general being received in the blue denims.

THAT it feels nice to think that a San Diego gentleman writes to Prince Rupert to get further information about a city with a climate that is good to settle in.

THAT it is a wonder some of those Alaskan tourists don't drop off here if that's what they think.

THAT it is surprising how many of those American tourists are personal friends of the presidential candidates.

THAT friends are what the presidential candidates will want more than anything else next November.

THAT the Knights of Columbus have lots of enthusiasm to start with and

THAT, if continued, they will surely make the other councils step lively to keep up.

IN THE LETTER BOX

Editor Daily News-- I notice that every nationality in Prince Rupert has its own society but the Irish and it seems that there should be enough Irishmen or descendants of Irishmen to form one.

Now, cannot we Irishmen get together and start one? I am sure there are plenty of Irish business men who could assist in getting it started.

In small places in India like Lucknow and Cawnpore there is a St. Patrick's Society and no bar is put on a member's religion.

Come, you Sons of Erin, drop your petty quarrels and get it started so that we may have a place to meet.

"CRAGNAMANAUGH."

On Saturday afternoon Wm. Boyle, accompanied by his daughter Muriel and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jones, sailed for Vancouver on the Princess Alice. They arrived from Telkwa last Thursday evening.
