Use Doesn't Harm It!

There is this in favor of the new idea of using silverware instead of keeping it to "look at" only, that using it doesn't harm it in the least. It is nothing else in the home that will so well stand ordinary usage as silverware.

Fine silverware is a handsome addition to the home. Used regularly, its value increases ten-fold, by all means "Use Your Silverware."

REGULAR WIFE COMES TO HER HUSBAND'S AID

"Lord and Lady Algy" at Westholme Theatre Social Play of High Order.

A woman's pluck and pride are hard to maintain in the face of almost certain evidence of her husband's infidelity but in Tom Moore's latest Goldwyn picture, "Lord and Lady Algy," shown at the Westholme Theatre tonight, Lady Algy comes to scratch when her husband needs her most, even though they are estranged.

The situation results from a flirtation which Lord Algy's brother has been carrying on with a wealthy merchant's wife and Lord Algy is unfortunately suspected. In spite of damaging evidence, Lady Algy retains her faith in her husband and saves another family from a compromising situation.

In the Letter Box

Editor Daily News—
I would appreciate the use of your space for a few remarks in regard to the unfortunate trip to Ketchikan on the schooner "Lady Mine."

I assure the public that every effort possible was taken for the securing of a suitable boat for the occasion and without avail. The sum of $3,500 was offered the C.P.R., G.T.P., Union, S.S. Otter, and the Alaska Steamship Co. but no vessel was to be obtained. Myself and family and party were favored with the use of the captain's cabin on the northbound trip and we returned on the "Regal."

The first knowledge that I had of the accident that led to the death of William McNabb was when someone called in our quarters, "Ben, come quickly, someone is dying in the front hold." I started to put on my shoes and the person said, "Do not stop for your shoes, he is dying." When I arrived in the hold McNabb had been placed on a table and J.S. Pudney, with the assistance of Ernest Watson, was working his arms and rubbing his limbs to restore breathing. I wish to thank Mr. Pudney for the way he worked four hours with the deceased and stayed with him at the Ketchikan Hospital until his death.

The last time I saw McNabb before he was unconscious was with Jack Bishop, when he came aboard the Lady Mine from the Narbethong some time in the night after we had cleared from Prince Rupert. He was ordered out of our quarters when he was insisting on reaching the engine room, where he was seen to handle one of the suitcases which was later seized by the authorities at Ketchikan but which no one would claim.

The inquest over the body of McNabb was held last Sunday and we were very thankful to the authorities for holding it then as it allowed us to return home on Monday. In the testimony at the inquest one of the girls said that McNabb, on returning from the deck, said: "I have just had a big rate of coke." No evidence was, however, forthcoming as to who gave him the same.

The young man was well known by William Brown, the drummer at the Westholme Theatre, before leaving Edmonton and according to Brown's statement was not addicted to the use of drugs before coming to Prince Rupert. I certainly hope that some one, in a way, is responsible for the death in supplying the drug that killed him. I also believe that in the last three years the drug habit has increased 100 per cent in Prince Rupert.

I want to defend the baseball players and those connected with them on the trip. In the games, so far this year, there has been no wrangling or disputing and it was unfortunate that our battery was unable to work in any of the recent games on account of injuries sustained unavoidably. We were glad, indeed, to have the pitcher from Kasaan and the catcher from New Metlakatla assist us at Ketchikan.

I hope that this will clear the minds of any in doubt as to the manner in which the death happened and I also hope that suitable transportation may, in future, be obtained for the excursion.

Utica Resumes

Announcing that the famous Utica mine near Nelson will be opened up at once, and that the adjoining Sunset mine, which has not been worked for fifteen years, will also be reopened at once, C. F. Caldwell, vice-president and general manager of the Utica Mines, Limited, has recently given out details of his plans. The old Sunset, under the late George Hughes, shipped over $500,000 worth of ore, some 2,000 tons which averaged over $250 per ton at the old price of silver. The property was closed down when Mr. Hughes died. Mr. Caldwell intends to continue the new crosscut until it taps the vein at a new depth. It is hoped to ship by fall.

Dual Silver Price.

There has been some misconception about the prices quoted for silver in New York. Gold and silver is bought and sold in this province on the New York quotation, and some of the producers would not unreasonably like to get the higher price for their output but, unfortunately, the higher price is not for the likes of us. When silver was above the parity value, the United States, under the Pittman Act, melted and sold an enormous quantity of its silver coinage and under the same act is now buying from its citizens silver produced from United States mines by United States smelters at $1 per ounce of 1,000 fine, or pure, silver. The smelters with 999 pure silver for the higher of the two New York quotations, the lower quotation being foreign silver under which class British Columbia's comes.

Wharf and Road.

The people of Alice Arm are clamoring for a government wharf and a wagon road connecting that wharf with the town. The road, however, would have to be built by the Provincial Government and it is felt that until the Dominion puts in the wharf the province would hardly be justified in road building although the necessity for both is well recognized. The people of the town which is nearly a mile from the present Dolly Varden wharf, the only one at the Arm, are not satisfied. Freight coming in on the boats, it is said, is delayed on account of the rush of company business and the only means of transportation besides ore trains is by wagons to a barge on the mud flats which is by no means convenient or economical. The business of the Taylor Mining Co. at their dock fully takes up the quarters and the public business is becoming an unnecessary burden. The condition of affairs is, at the same time, discouraging to the business people and old timers of the silver camp.

Anyx Coke Plant.

The coke plant of the Granby company at Anyx, which was opened during the last year, is a very interesting place and rivals the smelter in that regard. Situated as it is right at the mouth of the bay all persons passing on the steamers remark on it and ask questions until they have satisfied their curiosity. The leaping tongues of flame that burn opening on the poisonous cyanide gas so that it may not escape into the air causes most attention and have a beauty of their own. The coal from which the coke is produced is brought
