Acceptance With Protest.

Germany's attitude to most of the demands of the Allies at The Spa conference is mainly one of protest. In the first demand of the Allies for immediate disarmament, the delegates manoeuvred about so that they might possibly evade the issue and in some manner circumvent it. The Allies, however, showed that direct answers to all questions would be demanded and that there could be no trifling, so, after threats of one kind and another—threats that were only vain and could not be in Germany's power to carry out—she reluctantly accepted those terms, under protest of course. Now the questions of paying in the form of export to Allied nations is coming up. Germany yesterday stated that she could not supply 2,000,000 tons of coal monthly to the Allies and it looks like another attempt at trifling. Suggesting that military coercion might be brought to bear on them, the Allies have called in their military advisors. So it is likely that Germany will now accede to the rest of the demands. If she does not, she will be tearing up another "scrap of paper," and the Treaty of Versailles is a scrap of paper that the Allies will defend even more jealously than they did Belgium's treaty. It were better that Germany accept the provisions asked by the Allies—even if their acceptance is with protest. Their usual protest is only in the hope that they will be able to maintain at least a vestige of national independence and respect, anyway.

Fisheries are Stronger than Ever.

According to authoritative reports brought from all sections in the north, from Rivers Inlet to the Naas River, fishing in the vicinity of Prince Rupert this season is a more prosperous industry than ever before. While salmon fishing on the Fraser has been, as yet, far from satisfactory for there have been practically no men out up to date, fishing here is at its height. The catch is most satisfactory and the small boats are doing wonderfully. In fact the business this year promises to exceed the magnitude that has been attained in any other year. Besides the salmon fisheries, reports in the halibut line are also most gratifying and these fishermen are also doing well. Prince Rupert last year led all other Pacific ports in the fish business—there is no doubt that it will maintain its lead this year, the only difference being that the distance between it and its nearest competitor will be the more widened.

Watch Out for The Sharpster.

With the boom that mining has taken in the north during the past year or so, there have come into the country a number of parasites who always come with great booms of any kind. These parasites, disguised under the name of promoters, are nothing more than commercial sharpsters but their disguise is so well sustained that the common person in the city is generally deceived. Their usual line of talk is of an exaggerated nature but their approach is sometimes remarkable. Their stock in trade is nothing more than their imagination and their experience with bona fide mining men. They have capitalized this imagination and experience and use such smoothness in retailing their talk that the city man with savings is often led to invest his all in some "Eldorado" with disastrous results. The people of a mining community knowing these men very well are very seldom tricked but it is the small investor who is generally caught. The only safe policy is to obtain expert and trustworthy advice and beware that you do not buy a picture, a dream or a "line of talk." They are very poor investments, although they are generally costly.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson. The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

July 15, 1910.
 His Honor Judge Young sentenced Steve Woogist to six months in New Westminster jail for breaking open a box of plums on the steamer Hazelton.

The Grand Trunk Inn had fifty guests yesterday, which is a banner for the number of guests in the one day during the present season.

The Prince Rupert arrived in port today with one engine working. She limped into port when it was impossible for her to go farther. Captain Johnston says: "There is nothing that she cannot do. I'll come from Stewart backwards as a test."

The sewer pipe has arrived and was delivered at Sixth Street. This will be established for the benefit of the Royal Block, Helgerson Block and Marston Block.

Mrs. Angus Stewart gave a bridge tea party yesterday afternoon at her new home on Fourth Avenue. A very pretty silver flower vase was won by Mrs. (Dr.) McIntyre.

The Man in the Moon SAYS--

THAT all that comes in gunny sacks is not sugar.
 THAT some of the farmer guests found out that yesterday morning after they had mistaken some fish fertilizer sacks for those containing the precious sweet substance.
 THAT about the only resemblance was the sacks.
 THAT the resemblance was quickly lost sight—or smell—of when some of them went into the hold.
 THAT the whistle of Ben Self's merry-go-round further adds to the industrial sound of Prince Rupert.
 THAT the most of oppressed people are such only until they get a chance to oppress the other fellow.
 THAT there is no use talking, new doctrines cannot overcome the dictates of human nature.
 THAT most people, when they seem to be striving for the good of humanity, generally are out to reap a little good for themselves.

THAT one of the Dakota farmer visitors was heard to say, "Dust at Bismark, dust at Winnipeg, dust at Edmonton, dust at Prince George, dust at Smithers, dust at Terrace and dust at Prince Rupert! Thank goodness it will be raining in Vancouver."

THAT warmth is a very nice thing, but even Prince Rupert people can get tired of it.
 THAT the trip to Georgetown on the Albert Wednesday was the first ocean voyage some of the Dakotans had ever had and you should have seen them hanging onto the deck rails.

THAT some of them must really have thought they were taking their lives in their hands.
 THAT the fish industry never did appreciate refrigerator cars until there was a car shortage.
