To be Admired ---and Used.

Doesn't it seem strange that silverware should have been locked away in drawers and dark cupboards, and used on very rare occasions, if ever? Yet this is what has been done in many homes—until recently.

Now a much better idea prevails. Silverware is bought to be used AS WELL AS ADMIRING. Daily it brings pleasure to its owners and friends. And its durability is surprising. Use your silverware! It is given to you to use—it is bought for home service.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF BARREL OF HERRING

The first round in an interesting case was heard in the police court this morning when J. S. McKenzie pleaded not guilty to the charge of stealing a barrel of herring from the cargo of the Tillamook. The barrel which is now lodged behind the door at the police station is the property of the Southern Alaska Herring Co. and is en route to a New York firm. McKenzie who is a deck hand on the Tillamook is alleged to have taken the barrel and attached a shipping tag which would direct it to Vancouver by freight on last evening's boat. On request of the accused the taking of evidence was remanded until tomorrow morning in order that counsel for the defence may be secured.

INTERESTING GAME

Trail Athletics and Railroaders Mix at Acropolis Tonight

Tonight the football game between the Trail Club and the Grand Trunk will be watched with considerable interest. Following the spirited exhibition in the Trail and Sons match, supporters of the red and white jersey boys are quite confident that they will give their opponents in blue a very hard game. The Grand Trunks have now gained the lead in the league fixtures and are holding their position well, whilst the younger Trail players are eager to register another win. Fans have expressed the hope that the score will be according to regular football status and that uncalculated for comment from those on the field will not be permitted.

Among those leaving for the north on the Princess Mary today is Miss Marie MacDonald, sister of Principal A. M. MacDonald of the public schools here, who has been visiting in the city for the past two days. Miss MacDonald is matron of the hospital at Ocean Falls and will join her friend, Miss Annie Renwick, of Marpole, at the boat today. Miss Renwick is on the teaching staff of Point Grey school. Both ladies are making the round trip to Skagway.

Chief Alex. Stewart of the Prince George police force has resigned his office after a year's service. He will enter private life.

Sport Briefs

A few weeks ago a lady arrived from the prairies to spend a brief holiday with friends here. Before leaving the east the pleasure seeker was warned that Prince Rupert was about the last place on earth to which she should come as there were only a few tents and shacks on the townsite and there was too much rain to enjoy any outdoor attractions. Naturally the lady thought that a week-end might satisfy her, but she has already been here for over two weeks. The other morning the visitor was met returning early with a large sack of crabs in her hand which had just been taken out of the water at low tide across the bay. "This is the life," she maintains.

Tomorrow evening the Beavers and the Colts meet in an intermediate baseball league fixture which was postponed from Friday on account of the visit of the Terrace stars. The Colts were at the head of the league until the Red Sox jerked them down a peg and the Beavers have never been able to get well under way. It has been rumored that several dark horses may be initiated and that changes are possible in the Beaver infield. This being the case the Colts will have to frisk around the sacks as well as hit fairly high, in order to hold their own.

"Slats" Weber is already looking far enough ahead to begin thinking of another athletic park for next year. At the present time the Acropolis grounds are being taxed to capacity and at that all the teams cannot get a chance to practice. The football players have not been given an opportunity this season of going up for regular try-out matches. A lot of the practice gatherings are thrown over to Sunday with the result that almost every team in the city except in the Junior League was on the hill yesterday morning to do a few rounds of the bases.

Owing to the postponement of the Colts vs. Beavers game to Tuesday evening the regular league game between the Red Sox and the Beavers has been set back until Thursday instead of Wednesday.

Rumor in inside baseball circles has it that the Beavers have some real good new stuff on their lineup. A few recent arrivals have been scooped and will hold a place on the team. Enough information has not yet been received, however, to determine where these new birds will perform and to what degree they can play to pull up the Beaver standard.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

THAT in the calm of the night about 1:30 the other morning he heard a stern feminine voice speak forth in indignant words: "You can't buy Scotch for your friends and silk stockings for your wife," and he agreed with the masculine female in keeping "friend husband" half way down Fourth Street to Second Avenue.

THAT after all, Sir Tom Lipton may have been lucky to win that first race even if it was on a technicality.

THAT Sir Tom is a good sport anyway and if all "Sirs" were such it would help a good deal.

THAT the farmer hates to lose a turkey but Europe isn't that kind of a farmer.

THAT her Turkey is the worst kind of an old gobbler and ought to get the axe.

THAT Turkey will be a goose if she doesn't watch out and will get cooked too.

THAT the Turkey will not be eaten but thrown in the bonfire.

THAT if the Russian bear had been good he might have now had the Turkey and his Mediterranean port, too.

THAT some people have all the luck, and they seldom deserve it either. For instance, he has accompanied many a beautiful boat load of femininity but never got lost in a fog. And as for having to camp out with them on the beach all night—oh! he!
