

OFF AGAIN TO THE LAND OF NOD

—where babies do their growing

That's the kind of a baby to have—drops right off without any fuss, as soon as his meal is finished.

The baby nourished on Eagle Brand is a comfort to the whole household. For as every nurse and mother knows, sound sleep depends on proper feeding, especially in hot weather.

Borden's Eagle Brand is the safe and reliable infant food, when Nature's supply is insufficient. It is prepared from rich cow's milk, and even in the withering heat of midsummer it is uniformly pure with no possibility of contamination. It is easily digestible, wholesome and economical with a 63 year record as the standard infant food.

VANCOUVER LADY TALKS ABOUT HERB REMEDIES

All over British Columbia, Wonder Health Restorer is having a wonderful sale. Behind its success there is nothing but an actual record of the relief of human suffering from disease through the medicinal properties of the herbs it contains. It is not a "patent medicine"—it is a herbarist's prescription—the work of a lifetime of study and investigation.

What Wonder Health Restorer is doing may be judged from the following endorsement from a Vancouver mother: "I feel I must write and tell you of the benefit derived from your Wonder Health Restorer. We have used it as a family medicine and tonic and find it beneficial to both children and adults. My little girl (3 years) did not seem to grow or develop for a year, but since giving her Wonder Health Restorer during the past month everyone has remarked on her development."

"Personally, I cannot speak too highly of it. I am enjoying better health now than ever and have never been so free from women's troubles as now. For the past eight years being under the doctor for nerves and heart trouble. Since taking the tonic I have never had a return of the old pain, which always bothered me as soon as I started to do any work and from which I could never get relief. "I shall never fail to recommend it to sufferers and feel grateful that Wonder Health Restorer was brought to my notice."

SURRENDERED ZEPPELIN ARRIVES IN LONDON

Carried Out Air Manoeuvres Over City Before Landing.

The utmost secrecy has been observed as to the arrival of the surrendered Zeppelin, and on its appearance, the time of which was only known to responsible officials at Pulham, everybody excepting those in charge of its reception was excluded from the grounds and its precincts, says the London Times. The arrival had been timed to occur at an hour when few of the public would be about, but the well-laid plans went awry. The L.71, on which all identification marks had been obliterated, majestically made its appearance from the clouds at Pulham about six in the morning, but probably owing to the large superfluous quantity of gas in the ship and to the absence of the landing party from Norwich and Bury St. Edmunds, it was thought inadvisable to land at once.

The ship's nose was immediately put into the air and manoeuvres were carried out in the district with a view to getting rid of the gas. Ultimately the ship was turned towards Norwich, and just after 9 o'clock a distant humming sound, such as at one time frequently sent men, women and children scurrying to shelter, was heard in the city, followed a little later by the drone of engines and the appearance of the huge black airship.

Though every outward sign to associate it with the surrendered L.71 had been obliterated, the outlines of a big iron cross on the stern, which had also been blackened over, were visible to the naked eye.

The huge ship remained poised over the centre of Norwich for something like three-quarters of an hour before returning to Pulham. Even then no landing took place for a time, and it was something like three hours after Norwich had been visited that the Zeppelin was brought to earth. Three hundred odd soldiers had been detailed to help to hold her in when a descent was made. A rope fell curling from one of the gondolas to the ground. It was immediately seized, and other ropes being loosened, squads of soldiers quickly had the ship secure and in tow. It was then only a matter of minutes before the surrendered L.71 was lying snug in the place originally prepared for the R.34.

TRIUMPH OF SURGERY

How soldiers who had portions of their nerves blown away had them rejoined by the grafting in of lengths of animals' nerves was told by Sir Charles Ballance in a lecture on "The Healing Process in Nerves," given at the annual conference of the Incorporated Society of Trained Masseuses, at the Royal Society of Arts, says the London Times.

"You get an animal," he said, "whose nerve is the same size as the one you want to heal. An officer was wounded in the arm, and two inches of his ulnar nerve were blown away. I went to my butcher and told him I wanted two inches of a sheep's sciatie nerve. He killed a sheep, and while the nerve was still alive I cut it out and grafted it in immediately. That officer made a complete recovery."

BYLAW NO. 356

City of Prince Rupert

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that four (4) days after the last insertion of this notice, in this paper, application will be made to the Chief of Police of the City of Prince Rupert for the grant of a licence for the sale of beverages, as defined in the above by-law, in and upon the premises known as the Coney Island Bar, situated at 710 Third Avenue, in the city of Prince Rupert.

Dated this 29th day of July, 1920.

JACK McDUGALL, Applicant.

CANCELLATION OF RESERVE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the reserve covering the belt of land to claim in width situated along the north shore of Graham Island is cancelled in so far as it relates to that portion lying between the easterly boundary of Indian Reserve No. 3 situated in the vicinity of Tow Hill and the southerly boundary of Lot 1016, Queen Charlotte Islands District.

G. R. NADEN,

Deputy Minister of Lands, Lands Department, Victoria, B. C., 5th May, 1920.

The flight of a train is like the throb of an enormous pulse in the arteries of the nation. To slow the beat is to slow the life of the country.

THE train in this picture is one of the eleven hundred freight trains in daily service in Canada.

It consists of one heavy-duty freight engine and 45 standard box cars.

It can carry 2,000 tons of wheat.

In 1913, its engine could have been built for $34,700—to-day $81,000; its box cars for $1,138.85 each—to-day $3,797.50.

In other words the rolling stock alone in the movement of 2,000 tons of wheat has increased in cost from $85,948.25 to $251,887.50 or 193.1%!

The labor bill of the railways has risen in the same period from $115,000,000 to $231,000,000,—101%!

The cost of rails for a mile of track has gone up from $9,497 to $19,680—107%!

No cost has been unaffected by the general rise.

Operating expenses continue to rise more rapidly than Gross earnings. Net earnings are sinking at an alarming rate.

These are the facts that lie behind the application for increased freight rates for the railways.
