

HOLDUP MAN BEING CHASED

Barry, Who Assaulted Stoddart At Victoria, is Still At Large.

Barry, or Reis, the man who recently assaulted S. A. Stoddart in his jewelry store here, thought to be ragged and hungry, is still lurking about Parksville, Vancouver Island, near his ranch, according to information which reached Mayor Porter, chairman of the City Police Commission, today, says a Victoria paper. The Mayor's information concerning the fugitive appears to prove incorrect the rumors that Barry had been seen near Union Bay or had escaped from the Island altogether. When last seen by a man who was too terrified to stop him, Barry appeared desperate, exhausted and ragged. He was still wearing the white tennis shoes which he had on when he committed his attack here, but they were torn to ribbons, as were his other clothes, as a result of the mad chase through the bush.

Though Mayor Porter has withdrawn City Detectives Carlou, Macdonald and Heather from the pursuit, Provincial Police are still searching for Barry, confident that he is in the woods near Parksville, where he lived before the crime. To catch him in the woods he knows so well, however, is a task of the utmost difficulty and so far has baffled his pursuers.

Many Reports.

Numerous reports regarding the whereabouts of Barry continue to pour into the police and a great deal of time has been consumed in tracing up all the clues. The other night a Chinese cook working at a Cumberland house was stopped by a man who said he was starving. He told the Chinaman to leave a pail of food outside the house for him. The Chinaman's story was investigated, but led to no results. Last week a resident of Cumberland who was travelling along the Island highway in an automobile was hailed by a man answering Barry's description. The man attempted to stop the car but the driver put his foot on the accelerator, shooting the car ahead and frustrating the man's attempt to board it.

Milks Cow.

There have been other trails, all of which have been faithfully followed by the police. One was at Mud Bay, where a barberry bark collector said that a man had run away from him into the bush when he accosted him. The other report came from a farmer named Cairns, who averred that he caught a stranger milking his cow. When the man, who was backing away, saw some others approaching he took to his heels and disappeared over a long-railroad trestle.

The missing boat, referred to in the chase last week, belonged to Mrs. Philipps, of Parksville, and was stolen from the beach and the presumption was that it was Barry who stole it. It was this incident that led to the tracking of a harmless fisherman all the way to Oyster Bay, where he accounted for himself satisfactorily.

Barry is a Boer.

GILHULY CUP GAME TONIGHT

Grand Trunks Will Meet Trail Club.

The second game in the Gilhuly Cup football series will be played this evening at the Acropolis Hill grounds between the Grand Trunks and the Trail Club. The first match in this sudden death scheme was played on Monday, when the Callies defeated the Sons of England by the score of 2 to 0. The winner of tonight's contest will play against the Callies on Friday, August 20. Should the railwaymen carry off the honors tonight it will be rather interesting to watch the outcome of the final. After the wrangling that followed the Dominion Day match, many fans hoped that such an issue would be decisive one way or the other.

However, if the Trail Club win they will clash with the Scotchmen. It would be gratifying to many to see the Trail Club gather in the Gilhuly Cup, as the two other strong teams of the league have each won a trophy. The Sons should be able to field a good team at any time now and probably along about the time of the fair they might step in and take the Exhibition Cup and then everyone would be happy.

HONEYMOON TAKEN IN AN AEROPLANE

Society Editor of the Victoria Colonist was in Prince Rupert Recently.

VICTORIA, August 16.—Miss J. Kennedy, former social editor of the Daily Colonist, was married on Saturday to Herbert S. Graves, a returned man on the staff of the Times here. They started their honeymoon to Seattle in an aeroplane.

Mr. Graves was on the staff of the Colonist until recently and Miss Kennedy spent her holiday last year in making a trip to Prince Rupert, where she was the guest of Mrs. Jack Barnsley.

habits have come to light. It has been learned by the police that he was born in South Africa of Boer parentage and has travelled under various names. To the people living about Parksville he was very reticent about his past and his identity, and said that the neighbors might call him Jack. Some who knew him better, however, say that his real name is Reis. While saying little about his early life Barry boasted a good deal of his prowess as a hunter and, apparently expecting that he might need to use it some time, carried a heavy revolver with him.

FLOOD DAMAGE NEAR STEWART

All Bridges Washed Away on the Bear, Salmon and Marmot Rivers.

More particulars of the floods which have damaged the trails and washed away the bridges in the Stewart district were brought south last night by the steamer Prince George. It seems that the bridges over the Bear river, Salmon river and Marmot river have been washed out and an immense lot of damage done to the trails and roads. It is now quite impossible to get to some of the localities.

Up the Bear river there was a food shortage, so a number of horses were swum across the river, taking a cable from the Stewart side. With it they were able to get provisions across and send a pack train to the mines.

On the Salmon river road a good deal of damage was done. E. Campbell, superintendent of the Anox mines, and Postmaster Cameron were up at the 49 mine when the storm came and they were held there five days. Coming down Dale Pitt, manager of the Premier, came near losing his life when the horse he was riding slid off the road.

At Hyder several buildings were washed away and the damage everywhere is very considerable.

TENSION ABATING

PARIS, August 14.—The tension between the British and French over the General Wrangell policy is abating.
