"I like Pacific Milk better than any I have tried because it is always the same. I know beforehand what each can will be like."

JACK SHARKEY BEAT HERMAN

Champion Bantam Saved from
Knockout by Superior
Generalship

EAST CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Jack Sharkey, who fought Jimmy Wilde, English featherweight champion, outfought Pete Herman, bantam champion, in a ten round bout. The title holder was saved from a knockout by superior generalship.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

THAT if everyone was as tall as every other one, what a jam of umbrellas there would be on a rainy day.

THAT some people sleep so sound you can hear them all over the house.

THAT new babies mean fresh squalls on the ocean of life.

THAT the way to make toast is to put it on the stove and burn it and then take it to the sink and scrape it.

THAT a man who sold his liver found he had to buy another rattle for his baby.

THAT "keep your money at home" would sound better if there were not so many trying to intercept its staying at home.

THAT—
A little scandal now and then is relished by the oldest hen.

THAT there is one consolation about these railway fares. A lot of relatives will now have an excuse for staying at home.

THAT—
Freight rates are soaring.
Geel what a deal!
The only thing cheap
Is the way we all feel.

THAT some people are always late.

THAT when opportunity calls they are still too late for they have formed the habit.

THAT if ever they reach the golden gates of paradise they will be too late for the gates will have been closed just five minutes and, thank heaven, will never reopen to them.

THAT the man who is late habitually is as bad as a criminal. He upsets all the arrangements of organized society and deserves punishment accordingly.

GROSSMITH IS CLEVER

Talented Artists Were Received
With Enthusiasm at Rink
Last Evening.

Prince Rupert audiences have probably never heard an actor, impersonator, pianist and composer combined in one person before and Leslie Grossmith, who seems to be equally proficient in any of these roles, was received with great enthusiasm in his recital at the Auditorium last evening. The large hall was filled to capacity and emergency seating room had to be provided before the many persons in attendance could be seated. The concert was a signal success both from the standpoint of the entertainer and the entertained.

Mr. Grossmith's programme abounds with numbers from the classical to the everyday humorous. It is different from the presented by the common run of entertainers and there were many surprises in store for his listeners. The music was undoubtedly good, the humor of a bright kind and decided dramatic powers entered into the character work.

Classical Numbers.

Among the classical numbers played by Mr. Grossmith as piano solos were Mendelssohn's "Concerto in G Minor," William Pope's arrangement of "Annie Laurie" with variations, Henri Kowalski's "Grand Galop de Concert," and Donizetti's Fantasia from "Don Pasquale." Power and remarkable technique characterizes Mr. Grossmith's solo work and this was especially evidenced in the last mentioned number which was played with the left hand alone.

Interspersed with the classical selections were many comedy sketches, monologues, songs and burlesques of an exclusive nature. The humor is mainly along English lines and gets away from the ordinary attempts of the kind.

Violin Solist.

Hugh S. Barbour, who is accompanying Mr. Grossmith on the present tour, has exceptional talent as a violinist. His work is not of the brilliant, powerful type but is more quiet and refined and is very delicate. His notes are clear and sweet and his stage manner is very pleasing. Count Szeda, who was here with the Chautauqua last week, and Mr. Barbour are altogether different types of artists. Mr. Barbour is a Vancouver violinist, another proof that art of the highest class may be found right in British Columbia. Among the numbers played by Mr. Barbour were "Sartarella," "The Swan," "Spring Song," and a composition of Fritz Kreisler's.

Following the concert last night the floor was cleared and a dance enjoyed to the excellent playing of Mr. Grossmith and Mr. Barbour.

In the absence of Mayor McClymont from the city Alderman Dybhavn has been appointed acting mayor. He presided at the meeting of the city council last night.

Skeena River arrivals at the Hotel Prince Rupert this morning were H. W. Chambers, of Balmoral, and Thomas Dawe, of Port Essington.
