PRINCE RUPERT'S FIRST SEAPLANE IS NOW ON ITS NORTHWARD JOURNEY

Flying Machine has Left for This Port

Vancouver Island Aerial Service Seaplane in charge of Aviator Brown commenced trip yesterday morning

Word was received this morning by D. McD. Hunter, secretary of the Northern B. C. Agricultural and Industrial Association, that the seaplane which is to give exhibition flights at the fair next week left Victoria yesterday morning on its northward journey. The arrival of the machine here is not given, neither are particulars as to the stops it shall make or the time it will take. Though great interest is taken in its arrival no time can however, be set down for its appearance. This will be the first flying machine to come to Prince Rupert and will be the first one to be seen by any of the people in the city.

Two trips a day will be made by the machine for every day of the fair week and during the actual days of the exhibition an extra trip will be made. On the first special trip is expected to be made, flying over all points within a radius of 15 miles, dropping advertising leaflets. During the course of his stay here the aviator will do a spectacular stunt on one of the wings of the machine while it is in the air. For those desiring to attend the special trips will be made at a charge of $4.50 for a ten-minute ride and $1.00 for the universal charge.

The machine can fly despite the weather and will be made as a schedule providing there is no high wind. All that is needed is a clear air with little or no wind. If some of the scheduled trips, for any reason, cannot be made during the exhibition days, they will be made on some other day.

The northbound machine is in the charge of Aviator Brown of Victoria.

There was a long session of the Trades and Labor Council last evening in the carpenters' hall and a good deal of business of a routine and special nature was gone through. Preliminary reports received indicate that the Labor Day celebration was a financial success and there will be a neat sum to enhance the funds of the organization.

Hospital matters were discussed and the council seemed to be against the so-called "pay as you enter" system that has been put into effect by the Hospital Board. The opinion was expressed that the house surgeon and ticket system had not been sufficiently tried out. More information on hospital matters is to be secured.

At the next meeting of the council a definite stand on the prohibition question will be taken by the organization. Feeling was expressed against the liquor traffic but an effective prohibition is wanted.

Regarding the question of the use of spray guns in painting new boats, they are prohibited in all wards on Puget Sound as the fumes are very injurious to the workmen in the vicinity. A committee will interview the authorities here with a view to having them prohibited here.
