The Man in the Moon SAYS:-

THAT there are plenty of mosquitos in the world, but never let them worry you.

THAT the nearer you get to the looking glass, the bigger you seem to be, but the farther you get away from it the better you look.

THAT the world is held in place by the opposition of forces. That is why Lenin will fail.

THAT often a saint and a sinner make most congenial company. One makes up what the other lacks.

THAT the really busy man is the only one who ever has time to do anything.

THAT in the game of life, the goal is a moveable space. Victory lies in putting up a good game.

THAT law is an ass but sometimes the ass will kick.

THAT so many people want to get safely anchored, but who ever heard of anybody getting anywhere with his craft hitched to the floor of the sea. Give us fairly calm water, a heavy duty engine and plenty of distillate, and life is full of joy.

THAT some people think they have no luck in life, when all they need is to get their carburetor adjusted.

THAT nobody will worry much over what opinions you hold as long as you do your work well, but the man who is always expounding is the man who is seldom working.

THAT the man who thinks is the man who fails to think is not.
Are you?

THAT Right Hon. Arthur Meighen would probably be Right Hon. Sir Arthur Meighen had it not been that Parliament took a firm stand against the granting of such titles.

THAT those already holding knighthoods have a monopoly of the honors which come from the granting of the curious prefix.

THAT some young men like a new girl every time they go out; others like an old one painted over.

NEARLY READY FOR FLYING

Six Machines and 18 Men are at Vancouver Station; Parts Not Arrived

PLANNING LONG TRIP
TO PRINCE RUPERT

Aerial photography will largely feature the work of the government pilots under Major C. Mc-Laurin, D.S.S., who will shortly be operating from the seaplane station at Jericho Beach, says the Vancouver World. The major today is advertising for an experienced aerial photographer. A camera has already been secured of the L.B. type, R.A.F., and will be attached to the side of the machine when in flight, beside the photographers seat. It is proposed to photograph any area on which the government want data and specifications. If it should be desired, a photographic map could be made of the desired locality, showing lakes, rivers, timbered stretches, burnt-out areas, etc., and by such means also knowledge could be obtained of the geographical peculiarities of stretches of country hitherto almost unknown because of their inaccessibility.

Fly to Kamloops

The station at Jericho now comprises a staff of 18 men, also six machines. The latter are only partly assembled. Actual flying has been held up for some months because certain necessary parts have not arrived. They are expected daily, however. Major McLaurin, who is chafing at the delay, states: "If I had the parts today, I could have a machine in the air tomorrow."

First Flight to Victory

In commencing flying it will first be necessary to make a couple of test flights, and the first actual flight, as outlined by the major, will be to Victoria and return. After that a flight will probably be made to Kamloops, following along the Fraser and Thompson Rivers and making note of waterways, lakes, rivers, etc., that would be available for landing places.

It is possible that a long flight may be made to Prince Rupert, 600 miles, in the F-3 type seaplane, which is equipped with two 385-H.P.
Holls-Royce motors, and has a cruising radius of 750 miles.

This machine, which is dual control, carries, besides two pilots, an engineer and a wireless operator, but can accommodate 12 to 15 persons. It is equipped with bombing gear, just as used in the North Sea.

An interesting and novel feature of the extra equipment which has recently arrived is the wireless set, which has already been installed in the planes.

Arrangements have been made with the point Grey station for sending and receiving at the land end, and the machines during flight will be constantly in touch with the operator at the station.

Two commercial wireless operators have already been added to the staff at the Jericho station and have been busy getting the equipment in readiness. A small building will be erected there for the storing and overhauling of the wireless gear and equipment.

Send Distress Messages

When in flight the machine equipped with wireless apparatus reels out the aerial, which is wound on a large spool. To the end of this is fastened a two-pound weight, and it drags almost vertically out behind the machine for 230 feet, with a dropping curve near the weight.

It is proposed to equip the planes with collapsible 30-foot wooden masts, resembling fishing rods in their structure, which can be set up when the machine is landed, four aerials attached from its tip to nose, stern and wing tips, and regular sending and receiving of messages commenced. In this way communications can be established, for safety's sake, in case of a forced landing in some deserted spot, progress can be reported on long flights, word given of forest fires, etc.
