Terrace Exhibition Shows Development of District

Keen Competition in many lines and Unusual Exhibits of Molybdenite, Honey and Brick; Fruit and Potatoes Fine

The exhibition held at Terrace this year under the auspices of the Farmers' Institute, was a great success. The people of the place took a great interest in the competitions and there was a large attendance. The exhibition was followed in the evening by a dance which also was well attended and at which all enjoyed themselves.

Notable exhibits among those which were not for competition were the molybdenite ore collection from the property of Michaud Bros. on Copper Mountain; the jar of local produced honey shown by T. Laird, and the local bricks exhibited by Ed. Hamer.

The fine showing made by F. W. Bohler was the subject of much remark, no less than 60 varieties of fruit and vegetables being entered in one general exhibit.

In the apple class there were

BUS SERVICE TO HOT SPRINGS AT LAKELSE
