LEAGUE BALL GAMES ARE BECOMING EXCITING AS END APPROACHES

plane was Wrecked when En Route to Prince Rupert

up at Hidden Inlet, Alaska, by Cannery Tender; Pilot Brown is on way with Machine but Mechanician ill plane will not be here for the fair, and whether it will or not is not yet known. While no official communication received, the Digby wireless station received a message saying a disabled hydroplane had been picked up by tender in Hidden Inlet. The plane was bound for Prince Rupert. Pilot Brown is on the way with the plane but the mechanics behind on account of being sick. The code name of the plane having on board the plane and owner is N.K.Z., but the name of the vessel is not known.

First message was received yesterday afternoon soon after it was sent to press. It was received by the wireless station at Triangle Island and said that a wrecked aeroplane had been picked up at Hidden Inlet by some vessel.

Hidden Inlet is back of Wales Island, about forty miles from Prince Rupert. From this it would seem that the plane must have either been on its course or the pilot must have lost his bearings and flown to Alaska by mistake. It seems clear, however, that there is no seaplane here for the fair this year.

DRYDOCK SHOPS FINE SHOWING

Products of Local Institution Make Good Display—Trade Exhibits.

There is not such a large showing of commercial exhibits this year as on some former occasions—nothing like as many as there might be—yet those exhibiting make a good display. The Prince Rupert Drydock and Engineering Company's exhibit is a wonder. No one realized that such a variety of work was done at that local institution. There are products from practically all the departments, samples of the ordinary work taken from the shops as it was found. There are products of the engineering, pattern-making, foundry, blacksmith, pipe, joinery, paint, and electric departments. The display was the subject of a good deal of favorable comment from those attending.

Of the other exhibitors Pattinson & Ling had a large display of goods, showing how to "do it electrically," and some of the things they do are wonderful. McTae Brothers had a fine display of Brunswick phonographs which are being demonstrated continuously. They have typewriters also for demonstration. Kelly Douglas Co. has all the "Nabob" products and the firm is demonstrating their possibilities and giving away samples. The Prince Rupert Music Store has a good display of Pathe and Gerard Heintzman machines. Orme's Drug Store is showing Kodak products and Rexall remedies. Gosse Millard has a fine exhibit of cannery products put up at their institutions, mostly on the Skeena River. Last but not least is a fine display of photographs from the Benson studio.

TWO RACING BOATS ARRIVE

Both Wayward Girl and Priscilla Came in This Morning on Azurite—Frizzell Confident.

The Azurite arrived this morning from Anyox bringing the Anyox baseball team and two racing boats, Wayward Girl and Priscilla. Anyox people say the Wayward Girl is the faster boat. She is in charge of Mr. Olsen and Postmaster Eye is with the other.

Bob Frizzell, secretary in connection with the forthcoming boat race, said he was confident their boat was the fastest in the harbor and he thought she made better speed than the Wayward Girl had shown here yet. She had been tried out since Wednesday and was now tuned up and in good shape.

Suzu's boat has been having engine trouble, but this may be rectified before tomorrow afternoon when the races are pulled off.

Tommy Hooper's is an unknown quantity as he was rather late in getting his sea sled ready. The uncertainty of the power of the boats makes the race interesting. The boats expected to line up are those owned by Frizzell, Suzu, Hooper, Rood, Stephens, and two from Anyox.
