PRINCE RUPERT CARGO WILL BE A TOTAL LOSS

Very Little Will be Salvaged Thinks Superintendent Beaumont—Repairs Take
Some Time.

Superintendent Beaumont, who visited the scene of the wrecked steamer Prince Rupert, and arrived home yesterday afternoon, states that the cargo of the vessel will be almost a total loss. There may be small consignments of articles which are not perishable that may be salvaged but most of the shipments will be a total loss.
The vessel has been turned over to the underwriters, and as soon as the salvage ship Algerine arrives, probably tomorrow, a survey will be made, and the vessel will be raised and docked either here or at Vancouver or Victoria.
Mr. Beaumont says the damage to the hull seems to be in holds number 1 and 2. The work of repair is likely to be a long one as the upholstering of the vessel will be practically destroyed by being submerged so long in oily water.

The captain and crew are staying by the vessel.
How great the loss will be no one can say until a survey has been made, but Mr. Beaumont thinks it will be considerable.

MEAT PRICES WILL GO DOWN

So Says Pat Burns in an Interview at Edmonton.

EDMONTON, October 1.—The price of meat will be lower this year than last, declares P. Burns, the big packing house man, who practically controls the meat business of the west. The exceptionally good hay crop he thinks will have the effect of reducing the prices. There will be a good supply of beef cattle on hand this winter and owing to the plenitude of feed, the supply will be steady.
Mr. Burns says that the farmers will have plenty of money this autumn and that will have a good effect on business generally.
