People Want
Carnegie Library.

The movement to secure a public library for Prince Rupert went off to a good start last night. There was a large and enthusiastic gathering in the council chamber and the consensus of opinion was that if possible a Carnegie Library should be secured. The feeling everywhere seems to be that the time is ripe for the erection of a substantial library building and that if the Carnegie Commission will erect it, so much the better for this city. If we have to do it ourselves, the building will not be as fine a one as the commission would erect and there will be no permanent guarantee in regard to upkeep.

Moderation League
Is Being Formed.

A branch of the Moderation League is being formed here. A meeting is to be held tonight for that purpose. The primary object of the league is to defeat the Prohibition Act. They support the proposal that the government act as vendors for the manufacturers, selling to all and sundry, as long as they are over the age of 21 years. That is the idea of moderation as expressed at Vancouver.

So far the suggestion that the league is being financed by the liquor manufacturers has not been proven. The league is carrying on an active propaganda, sending out literature opposing the Prohibition Act. Their great feature, with black headlines is a pamphlet "England Free or England Sober" by the Bishop of Durham in which it is urged that prohibition does not make for temperance as it does not develop self-control. The Bishop fails to mention that "moral suasion," which is the alternative, has absolutely failed because the power and influence of alcohol are stronger than the power of the human will. That is why so many drinkers vote for prohibition. They know that eventually the drink will get them, or if not themselves it will get some of their friends.

This liquor question is important just now and everyone is free to use his own judgment in regard to it. The vote will be taken on October 20 and at that time we shall, as a province, decide whether we shall continue the Prohibition Act as recently amended or revert to the condition of free sale of liquor to those who have the price.

Sealed Packages
Simply Camouflage.

It seems as if some people think there is some efficacy in sealed packages. Most good brands of liquor have always been sold in sealed packages. The seals may be broken as soon as the purchaser gets outside the store, and so far as is now known, there will be no restrictions in regard to when and where the liquor may be consumed.

The sealed packages mean nothing. If the people vote for government vending, it means that every man and woman in the country has an interest in the liquor selling business and is a party to all the crime and misery for which the use of liquor is responsible.

We do not believe in being sanctimonious. We do not agree with those who are always looking with horror on things they do not do themselves. There have, however, been so many object lessons of the evils of the indiscriminate use of alcoholic liquors that we see nothing for it but to prohibit it altogether. The law still will allow two per cent of alcohol, which is one and a half per cent higher than that allowed in the United States.

PREPARE FOR WINTER WORK

Season of Big Activity with Concrete Results about to Commence at Premier Mine

STEWART, Oct. 6.—A visit to the Premier Mine, said by all the mining experts to be one of the greatest mines in the world would be a revelation even to the most optimistic booster. This property is just now in the process of changing over from a prospect to the dignity of a real shipping mine.

A mill is being installed on the property which will handle 100 tons of ore a day. This mill embodies all the latest in ore dressing and cyaniding. The company is also putting in, in connection with this mill, a power house which will use water as the generating force. Besides running the mill machinery this power house will supply electricity for the mine and all the buildings.

Modern conveniences in the form of hot and cold water baths will also further add to the comfort of the employees at Premier, which has all the ambitions of becoming a town of itself, with hospital, school and post office.

Winter Transportation

Considerable roadwork is being done between Hyder and the mine. Forty head of horses are now being kept busy hauling equipment up the American side of the Salmon River across the river and border further up and thence to the mine. Hyder is practically the headquarters for the packing outfit and it is probable that it will eventually become the shipping point for a good deal of the Salmon River ore.

On the new dock a warehouse has just been built and here the ore from the Premier is stored prior to shipment. Already the high grade ore is commencing to come down the trail from the mine, indicating that this season's efforts are being made to have the shipments as large as possible. Of course shipment will not commence until the snow is on the ground and the hauling of it by sleighs or rawhides will be both the easiest and the most economical method of transportation.

More than 200 men are now on the payroll at the Premier and all the labor obtainable will be engaged this winter.

The Man in the Moon
SAYS—

THAT a Moderation League advocate says one objection to prohibition is that under it men get to know too much. They always know the price of sugar and raisins.

THAT many a woman who will swallow the story of Jonah swallowing a whale will not swallow her own husband's story of what they never swallowed at the lodge meeting.

THAT it is with regret we record the death of John Jones of Copperville, Ont., who dropped dead in the Arctic Cafe here when the waiter charged him 35c for coffee and sinkers.

THAT while prices are said to be on the toboggan, they refuse to slide.

THAT some people say prices have legs and are crawling up the toboggan slide.

THAT in view of the formation of a branch of the Moderation League here, it might be well for them to explain what they consider a moderate amount of liquor for a fellow who doesn't begin to taste until he has his tenth drink and who needs fifteen to make him sing.

THAT there are one or two men who attend the sessions of Col. McMorde's "at home" parties in the morning rather regularly, who would be fit subjects for the Moderation League to commence making experiments with.

THAT no one has ever been able to decide how much liquor is a reasonable amount for a person to consume at one sitting.

THAT it is never safe to play with an adder even in a moderate way for it is pretty sure to use its fangs on you sooner or later.
