W. R. Tonkins, of Hyder, Says as Much Ore West of Salmon
River as on East.

MANY GOOD SHOWINGS TRIBUTARY TO HYDER

HYDER, October 6.—The Fish Creek mining district out of Stewart is showing good signs at the present time and many properties are being developed with great hopes for their proving winners.

W. R. Tonkin, president and manager of the Fish Creek Mining Co., says that they have been doing development work on their property for seven years and each year more promise is shown with the justification of "carrying on." It is the intention of this company to start shipping ore as soon as transportation allows.

This property is located on the west slope of the Salmon River on the American side and is about eight miles from Hyder.

The leads are quartz fissures carrying high values in silver and gold. There is already 1,000 feet of tunnel work on the property which exposes veins of great length, continuing to a depth of 250 feet. The Fish Creek company intends to put in a concentrator to handle the ores of the Fish Creek district.

Value Overlooked.

"It is my belief that the tonnage of ore in the Fish Creek district on the American side will equal the tonnage on the Canadian side," said Mr. Tonkin recently. "It has been overlooked by American interests, as the excitement of the Premier's richness has attracted all eyes to its particular locality."

Representations are being made to the American government regarding the necessity of a road from the main Salmon River road up Fish Creek to open up the properties that now find packing almost out of the question.

Titan Group

On the Titan Group, also up Fish Creek, there is one of the biggest showings in the country. A diamond drill is now being moved to the property and about 600 feet of drilling will be done. The main showing is about a quarter of a mile from the international border on the Alaskan side. It consists of a quartz ledge extending for 3,000 feet, with a width of ten feet. S. P. Fitzgerald, John Fitzgerald and J. Jensen are the owners.

Riverside Group

The Riverside Group has been undergoing development work all summer and a good tonnage has been blocked out. On this property there is already over 350 feet of tunnelling and veins ranging from one to twelve feet in width have been discovered. These veins can be traced for more than 3,000 feet. The main wagon road up the Salmon passes within 100 feet of the workings. The Riverside is owned by Dan Lindeborg and A. Lindeborg of Hyder.

The Union steamer Chelovin pulled out last evening at 8 o'clock without waiting for the delayed passenger train. All accommodation was taken for Vancouver and many were turned away who were unable to make reservations.

ALLURING PICTURE?

Editor Daily News.—The advocates of the Government grog shop paint alluring pictures of the huge revenue that the province will derive from liquor sales, lifting the cruel burden of excessive taxation from the bent back of the long-suffering taxpayer and at the same time providing the much needed money for public works, education and other desirable things. The Moderation League pronounces these arguments "undoubtedly sound" and the proposition is plain enough:

The more booze we consume, the more profits will flow into the provincial treasury.

The more workmen's pay checks turned over the Government bar in exchange for wet goods, the more money available for fat civil service salaries.

The more homes ruined by the introduction into them of civic booze in "sealed packages," the more appropriations for public buildings.

The more ill-clad, under-fed and neglected children, the bigger grants for public schools.

The greater number of deserted wives by drunken husbands, the more funds available for mothers' pensions.

Behold what a glorious economic discovery! By the touch of the magic wand of "Government control" the old putrid stream of "distilled damnation" is to become a sparkling river of national prosperity and affluence!

The Last Thing.

No sir, the last thing a government or an individual should touch is liquor. There are many things which governments could and should control and operate for the public benefit of all, such as mines, forests, fisheries and railways and many other basic industries and public utilities, but dispensing strong drink is not one of them, and anyone who would thrust such a degrading business upon our elected representatives is no friend of political morality and good government.

Skeena River arrivals last evening included Mrs. H. W. Morry, Port Essington; John A. Clark, Claxton; W. Evison, Carlisle; W. F. Binns, Balmoral; Alfred Perkins, Port Edward.
