Resources Takes Slam at Prohibition.

"Resources," Weston Coyney's interesting little magazine, which is usually devoted to matters pertaining to development of the city and district, goes out of its way this month to take a fling at those who are anxious to have decent conditions in the community and are urging that people vote for prohibition of the liquor traffic. Incidentally it calls them "pussyfooters." Also it calls the people who are convicted "criminals." It says: "Bigotted sentimental tyranny has in the past many wholesale slaughters of the innocent to answer for; but in all history no device of the ungodly ever placed to its record such a long list of criminals and criminally-disposed persons as prohibition has made and proudly claims as its own." The article paints a sad picture of the "fisherman coming from work in a raging gale wet through and exhausted" and of course needing a nip. It also speaks of the miner in the bowels of the earth, the arduous toilers of the logging camps, mills and shipyards and the shattered and nerve wracked veterans of the Great War who ought not to be deprived of such stimulant as may comfort them. These people will all recognize themselves in the picture and doubtless be sorry for themselves. Unfortunately the writer seems to have no sympathy for the "nerve-wracked" editor worn out from over-exertion in writing a lot of twaddle and having to resort to a little touch of two and a half per cent to keep him going in the same happy humorous vein.

Possibly the editor of Resources is not aware that these same "pussyfooters" of whom he speaks are among the best business men in the city and the most skilled of the workers Had he taken a look at the list of subscribers to the prohibition campaign fund he might have thought twice before speaking of them in that way. However, his article will add to the merriment of the community and that is worth something.

Train of Evils Imagination Created.

Resources speaks of the "train of evils" prohibition has created. This train of evils exists only in the diseased imagination. There is no train of evils except such as a few people who have no control over themselves conjure up. Perhaps it is an evil that jails have been closed, that people are buying clothes and shoes and other necessaries of life in place of liquor. Perhaps it is a train of evils that women and children are receiving better treatment and are better clad, that children are born under better conditions and are given a chance in life. Place against these things the fact that a few people sell liquor contrary to law and that a few people erect stills and are sometimes punished for the offense. Where is the train of evils that Mr. Coyney sees?

Editor for Once Out of His Sphere.

Mr. Coyney is personally a fine man and the Daily News has always recognized the value of his magazine and given it such publicity as it merited, but when he sets out to read moral lectures to the community and to belittle the efforts of those who are trying to improve conditions, he is out of his sphere and he injures his magazine and his standing in the community. The humor of his article, however, to some extent makes amends for any objection that may be taken to it. It is really one more boost for prohibition.

Low, 7:24 a. m., 5.1 feet.
19:52 p. m., 2.7 feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

Mining News

ANOTHER BABINE MINE

The Steamship Mining Company, non-personal liability, was recently gazetted to develop claims in the inferior known as the Babine Group. The incorporators are P. J. Higgins, A. D. Davis and J. J. Driscoll, and the property shows a strong vein traced at a width of some 34 inches for 3,000 feet with ore running assay values of $236.50 in gold, silver, lead and copper. The adjoining property to this, the Babine Bonanza, recently made a big strike and expects to be on the shipping list next season.

• • •

MILLION DOLLAR SHIPMENT

More than a million dollars' worth of ore will be shipped by dog teams and sleighs from the Premier Mine this winter according to recent arrivals coming out for the winter. Glowing reports of other finds are also made and the road building both by the Canadian and American governments into the Salmon River mining fields is the source of much satisfaction to all the mining interests in that section. General Leckie has let a contract for the continuation of work on the Hercules throughout the winter, and P. W. Racey has some good ore sacked at the Silver Tip awaiting shipment. This property is closed up for the winter.

• • •

MOOSE MINE ACTIVE.

Work is now proceeding on the work of development on the Moose Mine at Alice Arm which was recently bonded by a Vancouver syndicate headed by W. R. Ross, ex-minister of lands. The Moose is located about four miles from the Dolly Varden up the Kitsault river from Alice Arm and has long been looked upon as a mine with great prospects. During the past summer D. W. Cameron, the discoverer, conducted development operations but a month or so ago let the property to the bonders. P. W. Racey, engineer in charge, was recently in town getting supplies to take in over the Dolly Varden Railway before it may be closed up by the heavy snows.

In the Letter Box

REPLY TO FORMEY.

Editor Daily News:—Permit me to congratulate the vice-president of the Moderation League, Capt. Formby, for his excellent eulogy on self-control and other virtues, in your issue of yesterday. It appears that the captain has taken exception to certain remarks of mine regarding government sale of liquor, and I take it that his letter is intended as a reply. If that is the case, it is rather unfortunate that the writer altogether avoids the point at issue, making a flanking movement around the subject, he finally winds up in Germany.

It may be my lack of education or just natural stupidity, but I am unable to see any connecting link between the atrocities of the Germans on the battlefields of Europe and the desirability or otherwise of government sale of liquor in B. C. Might I humbly suggest that a march into Germany or any other distant part appears to me to be an error in strategy on the part of Capt. Formby, exposing as it does his rear and seriously endangering his lines of communication. And if the Moderationists hope to top the poll on the 20th they had better try and keep their gallant commander nearer home.

I would like to ask Capt. Formby how he squares this sentence in his letter: "For it has been recognized for thousands of years by men infinitely wiser than the average prohibitionist that there is virtue in wine and distilled liquor," with the fact that distilled liquors are a comparatively modern invention, and why he does not trot out his authorities? But speaking of philosophers and wise men of old I beg permission to quote one on the subject. He said: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." When one reads the platform of the Moderation League the truth of this statement is brought home to one with tremendous force.
