Honest and Sincere
But Mistaken.

In a letter in the Daily News yesterday, Capt. Freeman takes exception to the passing of a prohibition measure and says that "the community has no right to interfere with my business unless I injure or threaten to injure someone else."

We believe Capt. Freeman to be honest and sincere in upholding his point of view, but he is not correct. He must know that the use of liquor is one of the most important factors in causing race deterioration. As a student he must know that children born to alcoholic parents do not average up to those from non-alcoholic. The Captain surely has seen some of the misery, disease and death which comes as a result of indulgence in alcoholic drinks and the evils to which such indulgence leads. These things are so well known that it seems like insulting the intelligence of the average newspaper reader to state them. It is because of the injurious effect of the consumption of alcohol that prohibitionists vote against its sale, and not from any desire to annoy anyone. There is no honor or glory in trying to impose the will of the majority on the minority in this matter. Only the desire to prevent suffering, to protect our own children, and to make the world a decent place in which to live can rouse any of us to make ourselves more or less obnoxious to some of our fellows. The prohibitionists are no faddists nor are they intolerant or tyrannical. They would, however, be traitors to themselves if they did not use whatever means lay in their power to check the consumption of alcoholic liquors, even at the risk of being berated by those who have a thirst.

Think Twice Before

Voting for Liquor Selling.

If the Captain had children to care for, sons and daughters growing up, close friends and relatives in whose children he took an interest, he would think twice before he voted for liquor selling, no matter if it was at some inconvenience to himself. As he says, no one has any right to interfere with the private lives of even the lowest citizen unless it be for the protection of someone else. But it is just in order to protect others, that they do this.

When a man has children, he thinks more of the welfare of those children than he does of the rights and liberties of a few people who think they cannot enjoy themselves without some artificial exhilaration. He also thinks of the welfare of other people's children for his children may marry, and no one can tell whom they may choose. Suppose it should happen that they might choose a liquor addict or one suffering from an incurable disease as a result of indulgence in liquor. There is no safeguard. We none of us live to ourselves and to say that we have no right to interfere with the liberty of our neighbors is begging the question.

Christmas Coming
So Do Not Forget.

Just a little over two months and Christmas will be here again—the time when everyone likes to be remembered. Those who want to send things to the Old Country must begin to think about it. In a place like this where stocks are not large, it is well to make purchases early.

Many people like to make things for their friends. It is easy to buy but more difficult to make them. The article made by some friend is valued much more highly than anything else. If presents are to be made, this is the time to begin. Those who are intending to make purchases will do well to begin at once to look around and watch the stores from time to time as the new goods come in. Two months will soon slip by and then there will be the usual scramble.

SUFFERED DAY
AND NIGHTThe Tortures of Dyspepsia
Relieved By "Fruit-a-lives"

LITTLE BEAS D'OR, C. B.
"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches and did not sleep well at night. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. In a week, the Constipation was corrected and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

Low, 9:07 a.m., 7.4 ft.

21:43 p.m., 4.3 ft.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.
