NORMA TALMADGE IN "THE NEW MOON" AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

In "The New Moon," Norma Talmadge's latest picture, Miss Talmadge is given an excellent opportunity to display that remarkable versatility for which she is famous.

She is first presented to us as a Russian Princess in the exquisite gowns and jewels of a person of such wealth and position. Young, beautiful and proud, she gives the character of Princess Marie Pavlovna life and all the small necessary touches that one would never look for, but nevertheless miss if they were lacking.

Later we see her in a role directly opposite to that of the Princess. As a peasant, in the rough, badly made clothes of the Russian girls, she is happy, care-free—no longer proud, but meek as becomes one of such standing. But her inborn power to rule comes to the fore, even in this lowly position.

Having disguised herself as a peasant girl so as to be safe from the pent-up fury of the anarchistic mob who had attacked the palace, the Princess goes to a neighboring province and takes refuge in a small store. When the decree ordering the nationalization of all the women comes to the village, the Princess refuses to register and incites the rest of the women to follow her example. "The New Moon" will be shown tonight at the Westholme.

FORMER RUPERT GIRL MARRIED AT OAKLAND

The wedding took place at Oakland, Cal., recently of Miss Edith Shrubbsall, daughter of A. Shrubbsall, of this city, and Thomas Robertson, of Vancouver. Miss Shrubbsall was quite well known here and had resided a long time in the city. She is the sister of Misses Lily and Gladys Shrubbsall.

L. Worko, of Terrace, arrived in town on last evening's train.

URGE WORKERS INTO POLITICS

Mrs. Rose Henderson Says They Are Capable of Administering Affairs of Country.

The desirability of workingmen taking an interest in politics and having their own representatives in parliament was the principal theme of the address given last night in the McIntyre Hall by Mrs. Rose Henderson, lecturing under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the O. B. U. She said that there were two functions in society, one was to eat that they might live, and the other to live to perpetuate their kind. In order to carry out these functions it was necessary to produce and distribute. Production should be looked after by the industrial arm of the Government and distribution by the political. Labor, she declared, was not only fit to govern but was going to govern in the future.

What is Wrong?

In opening she said they were present that evening to find out what was wrong with society and to how to put it right. There were but two classes, one that owned the tools of production, the press, the schools and colleges and the land, while the others were the wage earners. Some people said there would always be rich and poor, but evolution taught that there was nothing static in society. She told of a visit to Germany nine years ago where she had seen the evolution of man illustrated by means of skulls. We were not fallen angels but were evolving upwards and there was still room for great improvement, and that improvement was still going on. The light of science had been brought to bear on every phase of life. There was progress shown on every hand. Industries were filled with the genius of men.

Being Robbed.

The lady lecturer asserted that the workers were being robbed and they must decide how to stop the robbery. Science came to their help and showed how it could be done.

Mrs. Henderson asserted that civilization was collapsing and nothing could bolster it up. As the ripe fruit fell and rotted so civilization was rotten ripe and must fall in the same way that other civilizations had fallen. She quoted Babylon, Egypt and Rome, where all the property was in the hands of a few and she asserted that 26 men in Canada owned the country body and soul. There were today millions of people who had no place to lay their heads. There was an army of wage slaves who had nothing but their labor to sell and when they could not sell that they had nothing to do but lie down or revolt. The masses were rising and revolting in every nation.

Use Intelligence.

Mrs. Henderson said labor not only produced but could administer more efficiently than any government had yet done. She told of the ability of labor men in Great Britain. In Italy and Mexico labor was taking part in the Government. She urged her hearers to use their intelligence and liberate themselves and all humanity.

Songs were given by Mrs. Swanson accompanied by Mr. Fanthorpe.

On Saturday night Mrs. Henderson addressed a well attended meeting and she also spoke to the women in the afternoon of Sunday. On Thursday next she will address the League for Self-determination for Ireland, at the same hall.
