ALICE ARM LOST ROAD

When Engineer Carruthers Commenced Building Indignation Meeting was Called as to Location.

ALICE ARM, October 25.—Work on the government road between Alice Arm town and the wharf was commenced by Engineer A. L. Carruthers here a couple of weeks ago but came to a sudden suspension.

Men were all ready to start the work and the plans had been all drawn up for the building of the road on the flat above the railroad track between the wharf and town when an indignation meeting was called down town. Representations were made that the proper place to build the new road was not above the track but on the water side of it. The people said they would rather have no road at all than have it above the track.

Difference in Cost.

As there is a natural plateau above the track, roadbuilding would be quite a simple matter and a crossing to town could have been made near the railroad depot. The total cost would quite likely come within the appropriation of $15,000 for the work. On the other hand to build the road on the sea side of the railway would necessitate deep filling all the way and Engineer Carruthers felt that it could not be done for less than $45,000.

There was only one thing to do and that was done. Roadbuilding operations were immediately suspended and the men and materials taken out. The Alice Arm people still have no road from the town to the wharf this year. The road plan on the upper side of the track has been abandoned, but it is likely that the road will ultimately be put in below. Minister of Lands Pattullo has expressed himself as hopeful.

ALICE ARM WING DAM IS BEING EXTENDED

Generally Felt that Work Government Put in this Spring Saved Town During Floods.

ALICE ARM, October 25.—The new wing dam above town which was put in with a view to stemming the tide of the Kitsault river and directing it away from the townsite is being further extended and another 100 feet is at present being added. The entire length will be about 400 feet when this extension is finished.

It is expressed generally that the dam saved the town during the high water of a few weeks ago and thus its usefulness is further being added to. There is now no danger of the river breaking through on the present town.

Road work in the district is about through for the season but a small crew is still at work completing the new road above the Dolly Varden mine.
