HAZELTON

The telephone service at Hazelton is to be changed. Hazelton, Skeena Crossing, New Hazelton and the Silver Standard lines will be separate in future. A new switchboard is to be installed in the government telegraph office.

As a result of the Athletic Association dance last Monday that body netted $119. A three-piece orchestra consisting of Mrs. Gibson, of New Hazelton, and Mr. Sparks and Mr. Chandler of Terrace, gave excellent music.

An agitation is now on foot in certain circles for a through trunk road from Hazelton to Prince Rupert.

Miss Helen Randall, registrar of B.C. Nurses' Association, visited here last week and recommended the erection of a separate home for nurses at the local hospital.

The Silver Standard expects to close down the mill for the winter and devote all the winter to development. The low price of metals is given as the reason.

A delightful surprise party was last Saturday held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harris in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Harris who were recently wedded at Stewart and were visiting here.

VANCOUVER CONSERVATIVE NOMINATIONS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3.—The Conservatives last night nominated six candidates from twenty proposed at the convention here last evening. The list is made up of W. J. Bowser, S. L. Howe, Miss Edith L. Patterson, Dr. J. W. Mahan, Capt. George Black, and Lt.-Col. B. W. Warden.

In an address to the convention Mr. Bowser said the moderation bill should have been submitted to the people at the time of the last election so that people would have known how to vote. He intimated that a bill had been drafted and was now in the office of the attorney-general.

In Victoria Premier Oliver was trifling with the people. The bill he claimed should be placed before the people. He was asking the people to sign a blank check.

Mr. Bowser promised that if elected he would put into the consolidated revenue fund all monies from motor licenses, game licenses, motion picture tax, liquor profits, income tax, personal property tax, and real estate tax and give each district an amount proportional to population.

MIXED BATHING IS TO BE REVIVED AT BATH IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 3.—In his crusade against mixed bathing councillor Clark, of Tunbridge Wells, has sustained a set-back by the action of the Bath Mineral Baths Committee. Hitherto used by male and female bathers separately, the Royal Hot Mineral Swimming Bath is in future to be the scene of mixed bathing.

For the moment this joint occupancy of the bath is to be limited to one afternoon per week, but it is a beginning and the time may come when the sexes may intermingle as freely as in the days of Beau Nash, who, though an opponent of mixed bathing, was very severe upon any bather or spectator who was guilty of any breach of propriety. In close proximity to the Royal Bath is the more famous King's Bath, which, as Nash's day always furnished an animated spectacle with society notables of both sexes indulging their gambols in the sight of an interested and sometimes critical assembly. It was on such an occasion that the Beau, overhearing a flippant remark by a gentleman with reference to a very buxom lady in the bath, took the incautious gentleman by the heels and lifted him over the balustrade into the water, to the surprise and consternation of the disporting bathers.

Nash's rules regarding bathing dress were very stringent and woe betide any swimmer who failed to observe his decrees. Councillor Clark may be satisfied that Bath today will not be less exacting and that revived mixed bathing will be marked by the utmost decorum.

PRINCE GEORGE

The case of Rex vs. Nolan was disposed of at the assizes last week, when the accused was acquitted on a charge of attempted murder. Stuart Henderson handled the case for the defence.

A building bylaw has been enacted by the city council along the lines of the bylaws in larger cities. Among the requirements is that all those proposing building will have to get a building permit from the city authorities.

Wood is selling here at a cost of 812 a cord. The labor situation and the poor condition of the country roads has caused a shortage in the city and the railway is to be asked to assist in bringing in supplies.

A fatal accident occurred at Hutton Mills on Wednesday when A. E. Bennett, a loader, fell off a cartload of lumber, striking his head on a rail.

Trains arriving over the G.T.P. at Jasper when the C.N.R. from Vancouver is more than four hours late will run right through to Edmonton, according to an announcement made here last week.
