BIG WORK ON PRINCE RUPERT

Captain Logan says Biggest Ship Ever Turned Over by Salvors on Pacific Coast

That the bringing of the steamer Prince Rupert to an even keel as she lay upon the bottom at Swanson Bay was the largest job of its kind ever accomplished on the Pacific Coast is the declaration of Captain W. H. Logan, representative of the Salvage Association, London, says the Victoria Colonist.

"The prominent feature of the salvage work being done by the Pacific Salvage Company," said Captain Logan, "is the fact that the Prince Rupert, which lay on her beam ends, was brought to an even keel in two weeks, without the breaking of a line or the injury of a man and with little damage to the ship. I consider that job the equal of any done in any part of the world. The Prince Rupert is the biggest ship ever turned over by salvors on the Pacific Coast. The method was not unusual. It was merely the pontoon method rightly applied."

Tide Helped in Work
To bring the wreck to an upright position two big screws were used. Sixteen two-inch lines connected them with the ship. The lift of the tide did the rest. The Pacific Salvage Company's steamer Algonquin started work on October 2. The gear was in position on October 14. On October 18 the ship was upright and in a good position.

The cofferdam, stated Captain Logan, would be the largest ever used by the local salvage company and perhaps the largest in the history of salvage work on this coast. It will be 56 feet high at the highest point, and 40 feet at the forward end.

Mail and Baggage.
While such a move would in no wise aid in the salvage work, the Pacific Salvage Company, for sentimental reasons, had its divers remove the baggage and mail from the Prince Rupert when that ship reached an even keel. The company realized how anxiously

WOMAN BEATS OFF ROBBER

Carries War into the Enemies' Country when Attempt Made to Steal Handbag.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4.—An unidentified hold up man who chose Mrs. F. Tuley, wife of Sergeant Tuley of the city police, as his victim, received somewhat of a surprise on Tuesday night. The man accosted Mrs. Tuley at Charles and Sloane Street as she was on her way to her home, 2724 Gravelly Street and ordered her to throw up her hands, at the same time grabbing for her handbag, which the lady carried.

With great presence of mind Mrs. Tuley carried the fight into the enemy's country and belabored her assailant with the bag in question, keeping him at bay until a passing autoist, seeing the trouble, came to her assistance, when the stranger fled. P. Fox, of 125 Heatley Avenue, was the victim of an attempted holdup on Tuesday night in the seven hundred block Dunlevy Avenue, when two men attacked him, but ran away after beating him considerably. Residents of the district who were attracted to the spot failed to capture the pair.

MASQUERADE BALL AT OCEAN FALLS

Three Hundred Attend Big Affair on Monday Last

Under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church, a most successful Halloween masquerade ball was held last evening at which about 300 people were present.

Some very elaborate costumes were in evidence, as well as very humorous and original ones. The Harmony-Four Orchestra provided excellent music, and the dancing was enjoyably punctuated with songs by the Misses May and Cecilia Prost.

The Women's Auxiliary arranged for all the refreshments in a very efficient manner and F. E. Hale made a very capable master of ceremonies.

Three prizes were awarded. Mrs. Ready as "Lady Gainsborough" received the prize for the best ladies' costume and Mr. Vincent as "John Bull" the prize for the best gentleman's costume, while Mrs. A. J. Godding, president of the Auxiliary, obtained the prize for the most original costume, being dressed as "Music."

Mr. Moore was the fortunate winner of a very pretty and useful library scarf.

The judges were Mrs. (Dr.) Christie, Mrs. Money and W. Sheehan, superintendent of the mill.

HO FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Hair cut and shave, $1.35.
This is the "Happy New Year" greeting 2,700 Chicago barbers plan to hand customers Jan. 1.
They voted yesterday to raise the price of a hair cut to $1 and a shave to 35c.
Laundering of towels and tonics cost more, barbers say in explanation.
