OLOF HANSON GETS CONTRACT

100,000 Cedar Poles to be Delivered Within Year to United States and Canada.

Olof Hanson, of this city, announces that he has secured a contract for the supply of 100,000 cedar poles for telegraph and telephone purposes to be supplied to Lindsay Brothers, a firm that operates both in Canada and the United States. The contract is not yet signed but it is being prepared and will be placed with Mr. Hanson.

The poles, Mr. Hanson says, will be taken out of the woods at different places along the line of the G. T. P. between here and McBride and most of them will be shipped to Minneapolis, but some will be distributed on this side of the boundary line.

A. C. Yoder, the Canadian manager for the purchaser, and C. P. Lindsay, president of the company, have been visiting along the line of the railway and have investigated the possibilities of securing this large order and are perfectly satisfied of the ability of Mr. Hanson to deliver them within the year.

OGLE SENTENCED TO FIFTEEN YEARS FOR KILLING MAN DODD

Was Found Guilty of Manslaughter at Fall Assizes—Took Sentence Very Calmly

At the conclusion of the criminal assize on Saturday last, and before Mr. Justice Murphy proceeded to the civil cases which are occupying his court this week, the three prisoners found guilty of various crimes were brought into court for sentence, says the Prince George Citizen.

Orville Ogle, found guilty of manslaughter, was the first to face the court. In passing sentence the learned judge stated that as he grew older he found himself averse to passing sentences of long imprisonment on convicted men, but having due regard for the public safety it was necessary to do so in cases. He then passed sentence of fifteen years hard labor on Ogle, to be served in the British Columbia penitentiary. Ogle took the sentence with the same extraordinary calm which has characterized him throughout the trial. He stated to the provincial police that he intended to learn a trade while in jail and proposed to become an engineer.

Two Years

The Italian, Augustino Milo, who committed an unprovoked attack upon a man in the restaurant of a colored man named Kelly, slashing his victim with a razor converted into a weapon, was sentenced to two years in the B.C. penitentiary.

Another case of a knife being used with fell intent was that of the man, Brink, who attacked a Swede at Quesnel. The evidence in this case showed that the man was practically demented at the time through having drunk too much moonshine whiskey. He was sentenced to one year on the Okalla prison farm.

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

THAT Pat Daly would eliminate the professional men from the Legislature. What about himself? It was understood he followed the profession of mining, but perhaps he has taken to farming and is now offering male cattle for sale.

THAT a Red is one whose imagination has been fired by glowing accounts of Soviet Russia.

THAT the following good story comes from California: "A stranger in our midst was in the cellar at the house of an old friend sampling the home brew the other evening when the town had its 7 o'clock quake. As the house gently rocked on its foundations he set down his empty glass with a grin of satisfaction and exclaimed: 'That's something like it! That stuff has got a real kick. It sure reminds me of the good old days.'"

THAT cash is king, but the king is absent just now, at any rate the shipyard employees say so.

THAT Oliver makes no promises, but he has been steadily delivering the goods.

THAT here's to the platform maker, who always becomes a platform breaker. That is if he is elected.

THAT most of the platform makers will not be given a first chance.
