DAILY EDITION. Friday, December 3, 1920.

Christmas is Almost Here.

Christmas is almost here and the people are looking for Christmas presents for their friends and they want to know where to go for them. There is scarcely a person in the city who is not puzzled to know what to give a brother or sister or somebody else's brother or sister. Father or mother require different kinds of presents. While a box of cigars or a pipe is the right thing for one person, a silk handkerchief or a box of ties is more suitable for another.

We are all helpless as we approach the festive season and toward the end we become frantic and rush to a store and buy the most unsuitable things. The store-keeper who is able to help patrons out of this difficulty is doing them a great service and at the same time likely to bring business to his store.

Toys for children are a special line and not so difficult to choose as are presents for grownups. In every case, however, the Christmas present is something that almost everyone wants to buy and which almost every merchant has to sell, the difficulty is to connect the merchant with the buyer and let the latter know exactly what there is to offer.

Useful Things Most Acceptable.

Useful articles are the most acceptable to the average person. The average man or woman wants something that is of real value, not necessarily expensive, but that can be used in some way. It may be a picture, but if so it should be one that would fit in with the other pictures in the recipient's home. To give a has no place to hang it, or a redbig oil painting to a person who tie to a man who would not wear one on a bet, is foolish. The present should suit the person getting it or it will not be welcome.

Home Made Articles Always Acceptable.

Home made things are nearly always acceptable. There are, however, exceptions to this rule. Even home made things should be suited to the requirements of the person to whom they are given. The writer remembers many home made articles which are still stored carefully away as remembrances of the sender, but absolutely useless for any other purpose.

The difficulty with many people is that they do not try to put themselves in the place of the receiver. If they like red neckties they think everyone else should do so and accordingly inflict their friends with them. If they think cambric handkerchiefs are the proper thing they never stop to consider that their friend never uses anything but silk. The acceptable present is one that fills a need. It is really better to send nothing than to give what does not carry with it a real welcome.

Shop Early and Avoid the Rush.

It is very commonplace to say "shop early," yet it is necessary to remind people every year that the time to buy is days or even weeks before Christmas. During the last few days there is usually a rush on the stores and it is most disappointing to find that none of the things you had planned to buy are to be found. As the season advances many of the things have been handled a good deal and are not bright and fresh as a present should be.

The store keepers and clerks should be considered in this matter but they are not. What appeals to the average man or woman is personal convenience, and the buying early is more convenient in that better service is secured, a better selection of goods and less likelihood of failing to please the person who is to be the recipient.

SAVED FROM LIFELONG MISERY

And a Dangerous Operation, by Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. M. J. GORSE
 8928 Union St., Vancouver, B.C.
 "I suffered with all the symptoms of Female Trouble, with chronic Constipation and constant Headaches. I had pains low down in the back and sides of the body. I tried various remedies without relief, and then put myself under a doctor's care and he advised me to have an operation. I refused.
 Then, I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives'; and from the outset, I felt better, and this medicine has completely relieved me of all my misery and suffering. My weight was only 143 pounds and now it is 168 pounds. I am free of pain and headaches and the terrible Constipation; and what saved me from misery is the splendid fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives.'"

 Saturday, December 4
 High, 8:39 a.m., 19.5 ft.
 21:23 p.m., 17.0 ft.
 Low, 2:09 a.m., 7.4 ft.
 15:21 p.m., 7.3 ft.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

THAT, as one of Mr. Newton's supporters remarked, "the flood of independence turned out to be scarcely a ripple."

THAT walk up, gentlemen. Let us now have your nominations for the position of mayor of Prince Rupert.

THAT the opportunity is now offering for a man to serve his country for a trifling fifteen hundred dollars a year or thereabouts.

THAT the glory fully makes up for any lack of pecuniary remuneration.

THAT a prince or a duke may come here next summer on a bear hunting expedition and any of you might pose as the game.

THAT it would be well to remember the practice in public speaking you will be able to get, with no charge for tuition.

THAT there are so many matters of choice as to whether you will be an independent candidate, a farmer candidate, a soldier candidate or just an ordinary dead-beat.

THAT after all the first thing to do is to decide to be a candidate, then climb up a pole and publish it, and don't forget to put your picture in the Morning Chronicle.

THAT service did you say? Service be petrified! Get into the game for glory.

THAT the girls in the basketball games look quite chic.

THAT talking about speed, you may easily see it at the big hall tonight.

THAT listening to slang is a beastly bore.

THAT it may be quite the thing to use it if it is bright and breezy but never if it is more than two weeks old.

THAT using slang all the time is like jazz for breakfast. It jars on the membrane of your cosmic consciousness.

THAT sometimes the business man keeps a stenog and sometimes the stenog keeps him, and again it is an even break.

THAT now the election is over, Christmas buying is in everybody's mind.

THAT there will be the usual scramble during the last day or two before the holidays and then "the best of the goods will be gone."

THAT now the election is over people are remembering this is December and only three weeks to Christmas.

THAT a printer's journal for December gives a "short talk on dummies." But why? Everyone knows them well and would much rather not talk about them or hear about them.

THAT nobody seems to know what to buy a friend for Christmas, and a good many merchants forget to advertise their Christmas presents.

THAT a few days ago a shop girl fired her employer and now she would like to engage him once more.

THAT usually a girl learns to cook just after she gets married. And the results are evident.

ADELAIDE FINED

Vessel Released After Being Seized by Customs Officer.

The fishing boat Adelaide, which was seized at Masset recently for fishing within the three-mile limit, was later liberated by Customs Officer Martin at Masset and came to this port. Here she was fined for contravention of the customs regulations in not securing proper clearance papers.

Capt. Newcombe of the Dominion Government fisheries patrol was in the city in connection with the original seizure but returned south last night when he found that the vessel had been released.
