MOTHERWELL WAS ON SERVICE IN THE WAR

Newly Appointed Chief Inspector of Fisheries was also in the Militia with Colonel Cunningham

VANCOUVER, Dec. 9.—Major J. A. Motherwell, assistant chief inspector of fisheries, whose appointment to succeed Col. C. H. Cunningham as chief was announced yesterday, has been with the department of fisheries for many years and was before a real estate man in New Westminster.

Major Motherwell was a member of the New Westminster militia and joined for active service during the war, going overseas with the 103rd battalion. He was wounded in the leg and still has a limp as a result. In the New Westminster militia he was major in the same unit as C. H. Cunningham was lieutenant-colonel.

It is a rush job and the intimation is that the money is expected here very soon.

MAIL IS GOING BY WAY OF DAWSON TO THE ARCTIC

Autos and Horse Teams Give Weekly Service From Whitehorse.

DAWSON, Dec. 9.—The mail service from Whitehorse to Dawson is now handled with autos and relays of horse teams. These will bring official advices and other mail to connect at Dawson for the northbound trip to the Arctic coast by the overland route.

Under a contract held by Goates & Kusner, the new contractors, the mail leaves Whitehorse and Dawson once weekly.
