There are about 500 outside absentee votes and these will not be counted before the district boxes are again counted up, which will take time. At the same time as the count of the absentee votes a general recount is being made.

DAWSON WAS ENDANGERED

Fire Threatened Food Supply of Klondyke—Carnegie Library Burned

DAWSON, Dec. 22.—Several fires which threatened serious damage have occurred in Dawson and vicinity in the past few days. The weather is very cold and 30 below weather is being experienced.

Several hundred dollars damage was done to the large general store of the Northern Commercial Co. The fire department and the citizens made one of the most important fights against fire in the history of the camp, for 90 per cent of the food supplies of the entire Klondyke are stored in that block. Had it been destroyed 3,000 people, dependent on this stock in Dawson and for miles around would have faced starvation before spring.

Another fire of unknown origin did damage to Dawson's handsome Carnegie Library. The damage to the building alone is $2,000, which is not covered by insurance. The fire department flooded the building, but only five per cent of the books were lost.

ALEXANDER BELL VISITED EDINBURGH

Aged Inventor of Telephone said it was Good to be "Home"

EDINBURGH, Dec. 23.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, paid the other day what he described as his farewell visit to his native city.

In reply to a complimentary address by the Lord Provost, Dr. Bell, who was warmly applauded, recalled in an address some of his early memories. He said that although he had spent most of his life in the United States and had been an American citizen for 50 years, he was glad to be "home" once again. "I feel I would like to have a last look round my native city before I grow too old," he added.
