Radiating Centre For All Activities.

Prince Rupert is anxious to become a radiating centre for trade. Every businessman would like to see close co-operation between all points in northern and central British Columbia and with that in view an Associated Board of Trade has been suggested for the whole district.

We take pleasure in commending the proposal made by Miss Helen Stewart to have a radiating centre here for the advancement of every section of the district in general knowledge and literary entertainment through the medium of the public library. Under such a scheme Prince Rupert could show the smaller towns that there is something other than mere money making in which the city is interested. The towns would benefit to a very large extent by the facilities offered by Prince Rupert. Each would bear its fair share of the costs and each would benefit.

This is an age of co-operation. It is an age when people are recognizing that extreme individuality of people or communities is not for the general benefit. Here is an opportunity to get in line with the spirit of the age.

Must Develop Every Need at One Time.

There are those in the community who say that there is but one thing needed just now, and that is sewers and streets. We take no exception to their enthusiasm along those lines. We believe those are the greatest needs of the day. We must not, however, forget the human development. We have already arranged to spend some money on the education of the children. The next step is to provide for those who wish to enlarge their mental horizon by means of books.

We spend a thousand dollars in this city without much thought. The expenditure of about $2,000 here would provide the nucleus for an institution that may be far-reaching in its influence throughout the community. With the co-operation of the surrounding districts we might build up an educational centre that would make for better things in this great country.

The Daily News suggests that this scheme be given fair consideration, especially at this time when policies are being formulated and plans made for the coming civic year. Letters bearing on the subject will be welcomed and it is hoped that some scheme may be worked out which will at once unite the various centres of the district and benefit each.
