

SAVE YOUR SIGHT

EYESIGHT—The most valuable of all the senses—is the most neglected and the least understood. Many suffer from it, which, upon examination, can be traced directly to defective eyesight.

THE removal of the cause will often restore the delicate and run-down sufferer to robust health. When glasses are properly prescribed, they restore the vision to normal and eliminate all eye strain.

FIFTH CONCERT BIGGER SUCCESS

John Graham Proved Surprise to City Audience—Great Reception.

COLONEL PECK MADE ADDRESS LAST NIGHT

The fifth concert of the Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra proved as big a success as any of the previous four and again a packed house listened to a fine performance. The selections, so well rendered last night, showed the capability of the orchestra very plainly. The program was completely new and of a more high-class nature than any of the others previously attempted. The opening number, Sousa's "Corcoran Cadets" March, was full of energy and vim and put the audience in a good frame of mind to receive the succeeding numbers. The other selections rendered were Handel's "Largo," Gillet's "Entre Acte Gavotte," Schumann's "Traumerlei," Brahms' "Hungarian Dance, No. 2," and the closing number, "102nd Patrol."

The soloist of the evening, John Graham of Vancouver, proved a pleasant singer and appreciation was amply demonstrated by the applause he received after his first solo "Love is Mine." On his singing "Little Irish Girl" the audience demanded his recall. "In a Persian Garden" was most beautiful as rendered by his clear smooth tenor and "In Memory" held the audience without a whisper. He sang two other selections, "Bid Me to Love" and "Give Me a Little Tender Thought," but probably the most appealing and the one most fully enjoyed was his final encore "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," which has often been heard but never more effectively and sympathetically.

A feature of last night's programme was the address delivered by Colonel Peck, V. C., D. S. O., M. P., honorary president of the organization. His appearance was received with loud applause and he opened with a few brief and witty remarks. He told of the value such an organization was to any city. Music was one of the most important of the fine arts and gave more pleasure to the world than any other. It was the incentive to great acts of bravery in the field of action and he made special reference to the bag-pipes. He closed his address by telling the story of the brave 16th Battalion piper, Richardson, V. C.

One more pleasing number on the programme was the cornet solo by J. Peyton, "Calm as the Night," in which he showed his skill with his instrument. He was accompanied by the entire orchestra. The accompanists were Miss F. L. Edmands and Miss L. M. Stephens and Professor Harvey played the violin obligatos.

SHAKESPEAREAN PLAY "MACBETH" TONIGHT

With the great English actor Sir Herbert Tree in the title role, the historical drama of "Macbeth" will be screened at the Westholme Theatre tonight. This is a big feature in seven parts, produced by D. W. Griffiths. The story of Macbeth is full of action and tense dramatic moments, and of Shakespeare's plays it is one of the most melodramatic. Sir Herbert Tree has been acclaimed as one of the greatest of Shakespearean actors, and the whole play has been staged with that elaborateness for which D. W. Griffiths is noted. The historical incidents with which everyone is familiar have been reproduced with great fidelity and seeing the play on the screen is the next best to seeing it on the boards, although Shakespeare's written words are the best of all. Those who attend tonight at the Westholme are certain to see something really worth while. There will also be a Keystone comedy.
