The Man in the Moon SAYS:-

THAT if oil should be found on the Queen Charlottes it would mean that this part of the country would be afflicted with another gusher.

THAT it might be a good thing, because if there were friction between political parties it would be easy to pour on a little oil.

THAT, happy thought, they might find a gusher of distillate.

THAT since Asquith's election Paisley shawls are likely to come into fashion again.

THAT if women are not showing more endurance these days than ever before they at any rate show more backbone.

THAT in most big lawsuits it is not a question of who wins, but who loses least.

THAT it is just the same with strikes.

THAT cigarette smoking for ladies is often discussed.

THAT in most places it has passed the discussion stage.

THAT it looks rather better to see a little roll of paper containing tobacco between the lips of a fair one, than to see her pulling at an old clay pipe or even a cigar.

THAT in these days of equality of the sexes either should be quite "correct."

THAT Queen Mary is said to indulge, not in the common clay but in the soothing cigarette after lunch.

LAND REGISTRY ACT.

(Sections 36 and 134.)

Application No. 11365-1. File 6274.

TAKE NOTICE that application has been made to register David H. Hays, of Prince Rupert, B. C., as owner in fee under a tax sale, deed from the Collector of the City of Prince Rupert, bearing date the 23rd day of October, 1919, of ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Prince Rupert, more particularly known and described as Lot thirty (30), Block forty-two (42), Section eight (8), (Map 923). You are required to contest the claim of the tax purchaser within 35 days from the date of the service of this notice (which may be effected by publication in the Daily News, Prince Rupert), and your attention is called to section 36 of the "Land Registry Act" with amendments, and to the following extract therefrom:—

"and in default of a caveat or certificate of his pendency being filed before the registration as owner of the person entitled under such tax sale, all persons so served with notice, and those claiming through or under them, and all persons claiming any interest in the land by virtue of any unregistered instrument, and all persons claiming any interest in the land by descent whose title is not registered under the provisions of this Act, shall be for ever estopped and debarred from setting up claim to or in respect of the land so sold for taxes, and the Registrar shall register the person entitled under such tax sale as owner of the land so sold for taxes."

AND WHEREAS application has been made for a Certificate of Indefeasible Title to the above-mentioned lands, in the name of David H. Hays.

AND WHEREAS on investigating the title it appears that prior to the 10th day of October, 1908 (the date on which the said lands were sold for overdue taxes), you were the Crown-Granted owner thereof.

FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that at the same time I shall effect registration in pursuance of such application and issue a Certificate of Indefeasible Title to the said lands in the name of David H. Hays, unless you take and prosecute the proper proceedings to establish your claim, if any, to the said lands, or to prevent such proposed action on my part.

Dated at the Land Registry Office, Prince Rupert, B. C., this 7th day of November, A. D. 1919.

H. F. MACLEOD, District Registrar of Titles.

To Ethel Tate, Victoria, B. C. 50

TO-DAY

in medicines, as in every other necessity, the public is satisfied with nothing but the best! This explains the ever-increasing demand for Zam-Buk. Not only is this great balm the best household remedy to-day, but it is also the most economical.

Zam-Buk's superiority is due to the fact that it is all medicine, containing none of the coarse animal fats or harsh mineral drugs found in ordinary ointments. Again, the medicinal properties are so highly concentrated that they contain the maximum amount of healing, soothing and antiseptic power, so that a little of this balm goes a long way. Another reason why Zam-Buk is most economical. It will keep indefinitely and retain to the last its strength and purity. Best for skin diseases and injuries, blood-poisoning and piles. WEBB DISMISSED ON CHARGE OF WOUNDING; THREATENED TO HANG HIM, HE DECLARES

ing with the men and he said: 'Never mind the men, I'll attend to them,' in a tone of voice from which I could see there was something behind it all. Later there was some criticism as to my not being an O. B. U. man and I said that I was a member of the International Brotherhood of Cooks, and that I had a wide experience as a cook.

Was Attacked.

"On Tuesday I was getting breakfast ready for Dion and, in fact, was preparing to dish it up when he started to talk about when he was ever going to get his breakfast. I went back to the work table to get it when he came running towards me shaking his fist. He called me offensive names and his fist touched my nose. I then told him that I was in no condition to fight and told him to go back to the table where he belonged, pointing the knife in the direction. I had no intention whatever of hitting him, but he picked up a cup and I shielded myself with a coffee-pot. He then came running towards me with a poker.

Struck Butcher Knife.

"I saw then that I would have to step out and shield myself from the man. Making a swing with the poker he brought himself up against the butcher knife which I was then holding in my hand. I made some passes at his hands with the knife as I knew that if he ever got in a blow at me with the poker I would be a dead man. As soon as I could I started for the door of the kitchen and he hung onto me until he fell exhausted from the loss of blood sustained from the knife wounds. I believe that, had it not been for his collapsing, he would have killed me." Webb had cuts and bruises to show where he had been struck by the poker.

Tied Him Up.

"I then went out of the cook house and about 22 men, I should judge came and trussed me up, saying that they were going to hang me. In fact one of the men put a noose around my neck. I thought they were surely going to do so, so I asked that they, at least, let me write a letter to my wife. However, they tied me up and threw me onto a bunk, leaving two men to guard me. All this time they were calling me all manner of vulgar names and the witnesses heard this morning knew it, too. On my request they gave me a cup of coffee.

"Taking me down to the boat, they tied me to the rail and told me that I would be kept that way until I reached Rupert. On getting out of sight, though, the captain, who had seen what had gone on released me. I went as far as Thurston Harbor on that boat and then was transferred to the Fir Leaf and brought to Prince Rupert. The witnesses examined this morning did not tell half the circumstances of the case."

Counsel for Defense.

L. W. Patmore, acting in the defence, then argued for the accused. The man had done what any ordinary man would have done. The engineer, in shaking his fist, had committed the first assault. Mr. Patmore was satisfied that there was some premeditated plan to make the man's life miserable and, eventually, drive him from the camp. The engineer only got what was coming to him and what anybody would have given him. Webb was released on his own bail and required to appear this morning for sentence.
