LOCAL BOARD ON FISHERIES

Writes Letter of Protest to Vancouver Board of Trade Asking for Fair Deal.

WOULD CONSERVE AND ENCOURAGE INDUSTRY

The Prince Rupert Board of Trade has sent a letter of protest to the Vancouver Board in regard to their action in the fisheries question and suggesting that they investigate conditions on the ground. The following is the text of the communication:—

"It has been brought to the attention of this board by press despatches that your board is taking an active part in the fishery question, which to us at the present time is of the utmost importance. In a late press despatch we observe that a commission, headed by your president, Mr. Chris Spencer, has been appointed to thoroughly canvas the situation in this province with a view to obtaining evidence and data to be laid before the Government in the matter of the appointment of a fisheries commission to take over control of the fisheries on this coast.

"As the bulk of the fish are caught in this district, and as most of the operations take place here, we feel assured that your learned commission will call on us in the very near future with a view to obtaining data and with the further object of obtaining our views, supported by proper facts. While the press despatches would indicate that your board was taking a very active interest in requiring the honorable minister, Mr. C. C. Ballantyne, to withhold the application of the proposed changes for 1920, we feel, and hope we are correct in feeling so, that you have been misquoted. We can hardly realize that a body such as yours, the first Board of Trade in the province, should take any stand in the matter of endeavoring to waylay the application of such regulations until you had a proper opportunity of gathering the true facts.

Oriental Labor

"We observe that certain principals, who are connected with canneries, and who are no doubt members of your board, are putting forth a seemingly honest plea that their efforts are solely prompted by what they term the conservation of the product. Certain cannery presidents have publicly quoted themselves as entertaining grave fears promoted by the feeling that the new regulations would tend to deplete our fisheries by allowing white Americans to come over here and buy our fish. Surely this condition, if it ever did come about, would not be any worse than the present day methods as fostered by the cannery monopoly and closed fishing regulations. For some years past Orientals have packed hundreds and hundreds of tons of salmon caught in waters adjacent to Queen Charlotte Islands, which salmon was packed by Oriental labor and shipped to southern ports for trans-shipment in Japanese steamers to Japan. This huge volume of product was taken out of the water by Japanese fishermen, fishing in closed areas under licenses held by certain favored ones, and we believe we are correct when we say that your commission will investigate this feature fully with a view to proving beyond a doubt that such regulations have tended to foster Oriental labor and shut the white fishermen out.

Eastern Example.

"We will take you on an imaginary trip to the Atlantic coast and show you dozens of towns along the Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland coasts which are flourishing fishing centres populated solely by white fishermen—not an Oriental to be found anywhere. Our board has made earnest effort from time to time to bring a certain part of this population to this coast to encourage the industry here, and while we have been successful to a large extent in having them engage in the deep sea fishery, it has been impossible for us, owing to cannery monopoly and closed fishing regulations, to get them a footing in the salmon fishing.

Unjust Laws.

"The fisheries of this district are rich beyond words; Hecate Straits can be compared favorably to the North Sea; yet, travel along this northern coast, and outside of the city of Prince Rupert, you will not find a single village, town or city which can be properly termed a fishing port. Why does such a condition exist? The cause, which we have touched on many times, is brought about by the unjust fishing laws which have been in existence for some time.

"Your board, representative of the entire business pursuits of your city, must necessarily depend to a large extent on fostering outside business, and as boats arrive here from your city carrying hundreds of tons of merchandise for this district shipped by business houses of your city, you must realize that our interests are yours, and that you must give way to arguments made by men who have been on this ground for years and who are thoroughly conversant with the entire fishery situation.

True Conservation.

"We believe in the conservation of this valuable product, but we do not believe that we can conserve same by having the canneries fill their packs during the season and go away from here without taking any further action towards assisting in the conservation. The way to conserve this product is to multiply the fish in the waters, and, if we are to do this, a more elaborate scheme, such as we have recommended to the minister, at Ottawa, must be carried out. Fresh water creeks, which are natural spawning grounds, must be cleared out so that the salmon may ascend to spawn; strict regulations must be enforced to prevent fishing these streams during the spawning season, and, if necessary, the time of fishing must be shortened. The cannery men have for years reaped the harvest, nature doing the sowing, they not having taken any action whatever to help in the seeding process.

"We hope your commission will give due cognizance to this letter, and we know that if your research work is to be complete, you will call on us in the very near future, when we shall be pleased to put before you, supported by positive facts, conditions which we are sure will enable you to agree with us."

Are Washdays Necessary in Winter?

There was a time, back in the days of stone hatchets, when woman was harder than she is today. A biting wind, damp air and slush underfoot did not so much endanger her then.

But is this exposure necessary now? Is woman exercising her best judgment in hanging clothes on the line in winter weather? Is man showing chivalry when he permits it?

A simple and safe solution of this problem is to send your family washing to us—especially during these days while the weatherman is surly.

No washboards or heavy soaps are employed by us. We wash for you in the twentieth century way by letting soft water and billowy suds surge through the fabric. It is a laundering method that saves clothes.

So, also, is our ironing process. We give a charming lustre to your linens not with hot irons, but with special steam heated presses that protect the textiles.

Telephone us. Our driver will call at a definite time for your family bundle. At a definite time also he will return it. Our method saves you labor and protects you from the rigors of wind and weather.
