LLOYD GEORGE SINGS TO UKULELE STRAINS

Welsh Melodies are His Favorites
As He Sits Before Open Hearth.

London, March 16.—Hitherto Lloyd George's chief relaxation from the cares of state has been golf. It has been his rigorous habit, no matter how pressing his duties, to leave his office and seek a few hours' rest at the Surrey Downs every week-end.

Now it develops, according to Mrs. Nora Langhorne Phipps, sister of Lady Astor, he's taken up singing as a more refreshing mental stimulant. When a guest at Cliveden, Lady Astor's magnificent country home, he frequently settles down before the great blazing hearth in the hall, and with the firelight playing across his face, sings half-forgotten melodies from the scores of ancient Welsh bards to the soft, langorous strains of Mrs. Phipps' ukulele.

"The Prime Minister loves nothing better than to settle down before the fire and join us in singing old-time melodies," said Mrs. Phipps. "He has a fine silvery tenor voice."

The Prime Minister has commented on the absolute mental relaxation obtained by singing, according to Mrs. Phipps.

"Golf and billiards necessitate mental effort," she says. "Singing requires a minimum. That's why it does him more good, in my opinion, than the more active forms of amusements."

Fred Roberge and R. W. Franklin were Prince George passengers on this morning's train.
