Sport Briefs

The Irish Football Association has suspended the Belfast Celtic team for one week on account of the conduct of the crowd at the Irish semi-final match last Wednesday when a riot ensued, revolvers being used. Celtic protested Glentoran for playing ineligible men and Glentoran was consequently dismissed from the competition. Glentoran has now offered Shelburne to play in Dublin for the Irish football blue riband and their offer has been accepted.

The measurements of Jimmie Wilde, the English midget, show what a neatly built boxing machine he is. There is no waste tissue on Wilde's little frame. He is built like a greyhound, plenty of muscle but little bulk. Wilde stands 5 feet, 2 1/2 inches in height and has a reach of 68 inches, which is 5 1/2 inches more than normal. His powerful forearms are as large as his biceps, measuring 10 1/2 inches. His chest measures 32 1/2 inches and his waist is only 22 inches. His legs are like bars of steel. They measure only 15 1/2 inches at the thigh and 10 1/2 inches at the calf. That is, one half inch less than his forearm, and shows how well developed above the waistline in comparison with his lower extremities. Wilde's neck is his weakest part. It measures only 12 1/2 inches, which is small for a boxer even of his diminutive size.

Con Jones is naturally disappointed that his efforts to obtain a first class soccer team to tour Canada have failed completely. Neither English or Scottish Association can entertain the idea of a ten week's trip. They say players would certainly get stale. The secretary of the English Football Association points out that a representative team is going to South Africa this year and Australia will be visited next year. Canada's turn therefore comes in 1925. Con has left London for a tour of European countries and will sail for Canada in April.

Before an exhibition game at San Antonio recently, Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants was the recipient of two tokens of esteem from his admirers in that city. One was a loving cup of silver and the other a baby wild cat, captured six months ago in Mexico. The Giants' leader made a brief speech of acceptance to cover both presents, and the wild cat was promptly dubbed "Pennant." McGraw received the loving cup with gratitude and the wildcat with much deference. He was chary about petting the creature, and inquired anxiously whether bandages and liniment were provided with it. He hopes to gain the animal's affection but will not press his attention upon it.

REGINA WOMEN ASK CHANGE IN LAWS

Health Certificates Before Marriage One of Suggestions Made.

REGINA, Sask., March 30.—The Regina Local Council of Women have decided what they desire in the way of reforms, chief among which are the following:

That the word illegitimate be not used in registering the birth of illegitimate children; that the provincial council of women make a study of the legal status of women in relation to property rights; that the marriage act be amended to provide that no one under 16 years of age shall be allowed to marry; that after 18 years, if living away from home, and self-supporting, consent to marry shall not be necessary; health certificate before marriage license is issued; licenses to be issued only by government official; amendments to Infants' Act; devolution of Estates' acts; home for delinquent girls; courts for women presided over by women; provision for wives of men serving jail terms; larger pensions for needy mothers.

Suits that are pressed frequently and cleaned occasionally wear 25 to 50 per cent longer.

How to make your old suit last

"It is not every man that can afford to wear a shabby coat," Robert Colton once wrote.

The words hold as true now as when first written, three-quarters of a century ago.

Nevertheless it is needful today to make the old suit last—though not at the expense of becoming tattered.

Between the costliness of clothing at the one extreme, and shabbiness of them at the other, there is a middle ground where economy and good appearance meet.

Our modern dry cleaning establishment is this middle ground. Here our experienced cleaners can tune up your old clothes and preserve your new.

Every person realizes the business advantage and the social value of clothes well cleaned and neatly pressed, but there is more in these details than improvement of "looks" alone.

Ask your tailor or your clothier. They will inform you that apparel frequently pressed, and cleaned at intervals of two or three months, will wear from 25 to 50 per cent longer than clothes that are not so considerably cared for.
