CHOIR CONCERT WAS IMPRESSIVE

Sacred Recital Was Fully Appreciated by Large Audience of Music Lovers.

The story of the crucifixion as presented in Maunder's cantata "Olivet to Calvary" by the Prince Rupert Musical Society last evening in the Methodist Church was beautiful and well rendered. This organization, under the careful and experienced care of J. E. Davey, is steadily improving and is a credit to the musical circles in the city. The choir that faced the large audience last night numbered 15 sopranos, 10 contraltos, 6 tenors and 9 basses. Their harmony was excellent and the control was high perfect. Music lovers in the audience were well pleased and unanimously considered it a great improvement over the last performance.

The Cantata.

The theme of the cantata depicts the events taking place immediately before the crucifixion of the Savior, opening on the Mount of Olives and concluding with the crucifixion. It tells of the casting out of the money lenders from the temple, the scene in the Garden of Gethsemane and the judgment of Pontius Pilate. The soloists were J. E. Davey, A. Clapperton, Mrs. Jarvis McLeod, A. J. Lancaster and W. H. Melliar. The choruses sung by the choir en masse started softly and gathered force until near the end when the supreme pianissimo "Droop, Sacred Head" was rendered. A pleasing part of the cantata was the quartette "O Thou Whose Sweet Compassion," in which Mrs. Jarvis McLeod, Miss F. Edmands, George Wilson and A. Clapperton were the singers.

Sacred Recital.

The second part of the program was separate from the cantata and was a recital by local artists along the same sacred lines. Mrs. S. Bennett, a new vocalist to local audiences, proved a pleasing addition to the city's talent in her solo "The Good Shepherd." Will Edmonds, always delightful, played with his usual finish the cello solo "Meditation." Miss L. King, accompanied by a cello obligato by Will Edmonds, sang "O Rest in the Lord" in her usual sweet contralto. Meth Davies, formerly one of the leading members in the Welsh choir, sang "Calvary" in a very impressive manner. The accompanist of the evening was W. Vaughan Davies, whose playing on the pipe organ lent much to the general impression.

MAJOR PHILPOTT IS VISITING HERE

Expects to Return to France to Reconstruction Company Which He Left Recently.

Major H. A. Philpott of this city, who took part in the great event in France with the Imperial forces, returned to Prince Rupert on Wednesday and has taken a flat in the Westenhaver Block. He will remain here for a few months and then will probably return to France.

Major Philpott was D. A., Q. M. G. with the Imperials and was in France from 1915 to 1919. He was demobilized last June, but remained in France as managing director of the French Reconstruction Co., to which concern he will probably return.

ALICE ARM HOTEL SALE FELL THROUGH

Ole Evindsen is Building Addition But Loses Proposed Holiday.

ALICE ARM, April 3.—The sale of the Alice Arm Hotel failed to materialize. An agreement had been signed and the money was to have been paid on April 1. On the day in question a wire was received stating that the purchasers could not raise the money so the deal is off and Mr. Evindsen still retains control.

Directly Mr. Evindsen found that the hotel was not sold, he placed an order for lumber and furniture for an addition and work on it will be rushed at once.

Ole feels that he has been the victim of an April fool joke. He says that it breaks the monotony of hotel life to be victimized in this way occasionally. He had made preparations to move out and to spend a holiday fishing and prospecting, but now he will have to get down to business.
