LATE RETURNING BUT HEARTILY WELCOMED

Joe Howe and Donald Crerar Returned Yesterday From Overseas Service.

Looking bronzed and weather-beaten, Joe Howe, of the Howe & McNulty hardware firm, and Donald Crerar, of the G. T. P. staff, two of Prince Rupert's oldtimers, returned to the city yesterday afternoon by the Princess Beatrice, after serving with the forces overseas. Both were popular here in the pre-war days and were gladly received back by their many friends. They are glad to see Prince Rupert again, although London, where they were stationed previous to their return, is not without its attractions.

Rejected by the authorities in Prince Rupert, Joe Howe made his way overseas and joined up in the old country, while Donald Crerar left Canada with the artillery along with Harry Welford and with his battery was in Belgium and Germany. They are among the last of the Canadian units to get home, after their mission was completed.

FINE CONCERT LAST NIGHT

Miss Jennie Taggart and Mr. Bentley Soloists at Final Effort of Season.

The Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra concluded its season's concerts last night with Miss Jennie Taggart, soprano, and A. Bentley, baritone, as soloists. It was a most enjoyable affair and the theatre was crowded to the doors with a very appreciative audience.

The symphony orchestra, which has done such excellent work throughout the season, was not quite up to the mark of former efforts, but it gave a number of selections with great precision and excellent shading effects, and the work was much appreciated.

The quartette by Miss L. M. Stephen, Miss Lillian King, and Messrs. Phillipson and Harvey was divided into four sections and proved one of the interesting features of the concert.

Miss Taggart sang well and her Scotch songs were especially well received. She was generous in responding to recalls and it was in the encore numbers that she appealed most strongly to the taste of the audience.

A. Bentley, who had not been heard before at the theatre, made an excellent impression and was recalled each time. Miss F. L. Edmonds was accompanist for the soloists and Miss Stephen was pianist for the orchestra. The piano used was loaned for the occasion by W. J. Pitman.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Arthur E. Borne Struck by Freight Near Smithers.

In Wednesday night about midnight Arthur E. Borne, a civil engineer, a member of the C. F. A., was killed on the railway track on the curve just a mile and a half west of Smithers. Conductor Spencer took an extra west bound freight out after the passenger got in. Going around the curve the headlight on the engine did not show on the track and the man's presence was not known until the jar was felt by the engineer.

The deceased was 35 or 40 years of age and was employed by the railway east of Prince George during construction. During the last few days he had been with the Northern Interior Lumber Co. and was returning to camp after spending the day in town.

The deceased was a native of England and the only known relative is an aunt living in London, England.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:—

THAT men like forbidden fruit.

THAT is why forbidden strikes are becoming popular.

THAT if the laws of God are more important than the laws of man, it is a greater disgrace to be ill than to be in jail. The breaking of God's laws produce sickness; the breaking of men's laws results sometimes in prison sentences.

THAT a clever doctor can do little toward healing sickness, but a clever lawyer can do much toward getting you out of jail.

THAT the best a doctor can do is to adjust conditions so as to give nature a chance, and then the probability is the patient will interfere with the adjustment.

THAT it is useless to hire a machinist if you drop a monkey wrench into the mechanism every once now and then.

THAT a great ideal is something worth striving for. If the great city is never reached, the suburbs are not unpleasant.

THAT one advantage of living in the moon is that one is not troubled with a superabundance of overheated atmosphere.

G. C. Kilpatrick, formerly assistant to W. C. Orchard, local C. P. R. agent, was in the city yesterday, having made one trip north as freight clerk on the Princess Beatrice. Mr. Kilpatrick is now freight clerk on the Princess Adelaide of the triangular run between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.
