PATTULLO IN FIGHTING TRIM

So Says Man Who Heard Debate Over Prince Rupert's Court House.

MEMBER WON OUT AND GOT THE $100,000

It would have done some of the Prince Rupert fellows a world of good if they could have been in the House Tuesday night and heard the scrap the minister of lands put up for the north and Prince Rupert," writes a local resident who happens to be visiting in the capital. He says:

"It began in discussing the public works estimates and the $100,000 for the government buildings there. A lot of people here think that the north is getting too much in proportion to its population and they said so in the House. T. D. got off in his old fighting trim and went after the south in great style, pointing out that the north held the great bulk of our natural resources, and he followed it up with facts and figures.

Duncan, the member for Cowichan, moved that the $100,000 be cut to $75,000 and the balance devoted to a building at Duncan, which had been without one for the past 28 years. The original vote giving the whole sum to Prince Rupert, carried, but a division was forced and a weaker man than T. D. might have had it put over him.

"I hear that Mr. Pattullo is to go north the first week in May."

CONSTRUCTION OF RAILROAD

Great Activity in Connection with P. G. E. Near Prince George.

FIFTY CAR LOADS OF STEEL HAVE ARRIVED

One hundred and thirty-eight carloads of steel rails were recently cleared at the American boundary for tracklaying on the Pacific Great Eastern south of Prince George. Last week fifty carloads were unloaded at Prince George. Besides this there are several carloads of various supplies including spikes, tie plates and bridge stringers.

At the present time there are about 150 men engaged near Prince George on railway construction but this number will be largely augmented as soon as the frost leaves the ground. Hundreds of thousands of yards of material will have to be excavated and, eventually, it will be necessary to obtain a quarry for rock with which to do rip-rapping.

The mill which has been running at Stone Creek has cut 700,000 feet of bridge timber and is about to move to Red Rock, 16 miles south of Prince George. At this point a million feet of timber will be cut. The mill at Bednesti, 19 miles west of Prince George, on the line of the G. T. P. has already cut a million feet.
