BODY FOUND IN A CELLAR

What Looks Like Murder Discovered at Toronto

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

TORONTO, April 27.—Rotting away in a shallow grave in the cellar of the house at 159 Wolseley Street where he had roomed, the body of Ramouch Hassan, aged 30, a Macedonian, was discovered about six o'clock on Saturday afternoon by friends who had been searching for him for more than a month. On one side of his head was a deep wound no doubt, from its appearance, inflicted by some heavy, blunt instrument. Across his throat, almost form ear to ear, stretched a cut, while rubbed into the shoulders of his coat and shirt were clots of blood.colored earth.

Over a month ago—the date is said by his friends to have been March 4—Hassan disappeared. He did not appear at his work; his room remained unoccupied at night, and as the days passed by his comrades became anxious. They searched every conceivable haunt; they notified the police, and on March 24 even went to the extent of publishing the man's picture and a notice requesting information concerning him.

Fellow-Roomer Disappears

Meanwhile, in the excitement of anxious searching, a fellow-roomer made a hurried departure from the city. With him he took all his earthly possessions and presumably fled across the line. New York, it is believed, was his immediate destination.

The second man's sudden departure suggested foul play to the dead man's searchers. Accordingly they redoubled their efforts. They searched his room; they went over every inch of the house, but not a single thing was found to bear out a theory that he had been murdered. Then, on Saturday afternoon, Ahmid Adosy, King Street West, who was the man who had instigated the search, with two of his countrymen, Abraham Selim and Kayum Fraif, conceived the idea of searching the cellar. There they found him.

TRADES AND LABOR SMOKER WAS ENJOYED

Address by S. D. Macdonald and Many Musical Numbers; Refreshments.

Last night's smoker given by the Trades and Labor Council in the Carpenters' Hall proved quite an attraction and there were about 60 persons present who enjoyed every number on the program. Smokes were supplied bounteously and excellent refreshments were served.

President Ernest Blue was in the chair and the feature of the evening was an address by ex-President S. D. Macdonald on "The Inception of the Council and Its Work." This was delivered in a clear, concise style and proved most interesting. Taking part on the musical program were A. Clapperton, George Waddell, Arthur Ellis, Robert McNeill, Robert Robertson and Sam Massey. W. Vaughan Davis presided at the piano as accompanist.

The committee responsible for the successful event consisted of Harvey Fraser, Sam Massey and J. Gillis.

A LUX Shampoo is a real luxury

Perfect cleanliness and a refreshing stimulant for the scalp are the best of all means for ensuring hair health. In other words—try a LUX shampoo.

Dissolve a tablespoonful of LUX in a gallon of very hot water, whip into a creamy lather, and then temper with cool water. Rub well into the scalp—you'll enjoy the invigorating, cleansing sensation. Then rinse thoroughly in fresh tepid water and dry the hair, in the sun if possible, never with strong heat.

Lux is sold at all grocers, departmental stores, etc.

A handy recipe book "The Care of Dainty Clothes" is gladly sent free on request.
