OSPREY DOES MORE GOOD THAN HARM

So Says Writer in Comox Argus, Who Defends Big Fish Mawk.

The osprey is one of the birds condemned by some local fishermen. The claim is made that it i destroys many fish. Here is what | a writer in the Comox Argus says of the bird:

"The Osprey feeds on fish and a very interesting sight is to see it hovering over the river and then plunge down into the water, [] being often quite immersed, and then rise with the fish secured. It seizes its prey with its feet which are exceptionally large and strong and, when carrying a fish to its nest on a suitable spot to break it up, always does so lengthwise with the body, thus reducing the wind resistance which, otherwise would be an item as it catches fish of considerable weight compared wit hits own

"The Osprey does take trout, but there can be no true fisherman who grudges it its share as 11 it more than balances these by the suckers and other coarse fish destroys which play havoc with the spawn. Moreover what is more destructive to salmon spawn than trout? If nature be left alone she manages that there shall be plenty for all and it is only when man wants everything that trouble begins.

"Thanks to stupidity and greed ! and to its own foolish disregard | of danger, the Osprey is decreasing sadly in numbers and it is a pity it and some of the other larger birds are not protected by legislation before it is too late."
