HUMOR SHOWN IN REX BEACH PLAY

A laugh now and then is enjoyed by everyone, and it is part of the pleasure of seeing Rex Beach's picture "The Girl From Outside," at the Westholme tonight, that you get a good laugh now and then in the midst of an absorbing story. The laughs are all in the right place, too. Some of them are due to the characters and some to the situations.

You can't help smiling a little at the five crooks and their great interest in their new ward, the orphan girl who comes alone to Alaska. The wall-eyed crook who is deaf only when he wants to be is a sketch when he isn't a scream. The Chinaman has the smile that won't come off. But most of all you'll be tickled by the capture of the one cow in Nome to get milk for the girl when she is sick. The cow is handled a little roughly, but all in a good cause.

STOCK MARKET IS NOT STRONG

Decline in Mining Stocks Follows Drop in Price of Silver.

VANCOUVER, May 31.—The general easing off of prices in mining stocks during the past few weeks has undoubtedly been contributed to by three principal factors, which are:—

1. The decline in the price of silver from $1.35 to about $1.10 at time of writing, and absence of definite information regarding an increased price for gold;

2. The general weakness of all stock markets caused by scarcity of money and a strong selling movement;

3. New finance, contingent upon the organization of new mining companies, which has accounted for the disappearance of speculative capital usually in evidence.

Though there have been no violent recessions in the local market, the general trend of business has been anything but strong. It is certain that the basic conditions underlying the mining industry are more solid than ever before, therefore the reason must lie in some other direction. An analysis of the selling movement shows that for the most part those liquidating their holdings are small shareholders. Undoubtedly, then, the higher cost of living are being felt, some of these smaller investors requiring money to meet current expenditures being influenced to sell from the fact that most of the stocks listed locally have shown gains since the commencement of the year.

In spite of heavy selling, an absence of anything like concerted buying, and a more or less stagnant condition arising therefrom, it is encouraging to note that few individual stocks show any alarming depreciation; a favorable feature and an infallible indication of the confidence held generally in the successful development and operation of provincial industries.

Below Actual Value.

The condition, therefore, in evidence is that a number of really high-grade mining stocks are selling at prices far below their actual worth. The fact that some particularly meritous stocks have received such scant consideration on the part of investors leads us to believe that there is an absence of the careful analytical buying on the local market which characterizes the operation of most markets. This is evidenced by the preference frequently shown to the ultra-speculative stocks, while the better class of mining and industrial investments, which have also attractive speculative possibilities, are more or less disregarded.

HOME COOKING SALE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The sale of home cooking held in the Red Cross hut on Saturday afternoon in aid of St. Peter's church, Seal Cove, was highly successful and all the goods were sold out. Much more could have been sold had it been available. About $35 was cleared for the purposes of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The committee under the convenorship of Mrs. G. Atkinson consisted of Mesdames Scott, Goodsell, Swanson, and Hills.

WOODSWORTH SPOKE SATURDAY NIGHT

There was another good-sized gathering in the McIntyre Hall last night to hear J. S. Woodsworth, of Winnipeg, make his second address. His chosen subject was "The New Era," but he devoted some time to reviewing the Winnipeg strike and trials for the benefit of those who had not had the opportunity of hearing him on Thursday night. He criticized the policing and laws of the country and made suggestions for their betterment. The meeting was presided over by S. V. Cox.

Mrs. Furoth Has a Special Way

Perhaps other cooks have used Pacific Milk in the same way. At any rate this is the right method.

When Mrs. Furoth is mixing a cake, say it calls for 1 cup milk. She takes first ½-cup water and adds Pacific Milk to fill the cup.

It is much better to pour the milk into water than to pour water into ½-cup of milk. Which way do you dilute Pacific Milk?
