Archbishop Urges

Loyalty.

Looking round for some practical rule of conduct to guide people in every sphere of life it would be hard to find two words into which more ethical principle is compressed than these: "Be loyal."

The spirit of loyalty is the greatest thing in the world for it is the unifying force back of all organizations of human beings, from the smallest to the greatest, and leads right up to the throne of God.

It implies that the individual has a freedom of his own, he is no slave driven by the taskmaster's whip, and yet voluntarily and completely he devoted himself to a cause higher than himself, though it may include himself.

Learn Democracy

In the Family. As an individual he finds himself a member of a family. Let him be loyal to the highest welfare of his family, himself included. Let there be no ignoring of the feelings, or belittling of the value of any of those with whom he is bound in the bundle of family life. Here is the best place for him to learn the principle of democracy: Each for all and all for each. What domestic | *** ** ** ** ** ** conflicts would be avoided, what heart-rending tragedies would be saved if this trumpet note would only ring out clear and strong in every homet Be loyal.

Co-operation In Business.

As an individual he finds himself a member of a great business concern, whether it be in the capacity of investor, manager, or workman. It may be true that there are faults in the present industrial syste,m which need to be set right, and he should use his influence in every legitimate way in this direction, but this is no reason why he should throw the monkey-wrench into the machinery and dislocate the whole works. There can be no truly successful industry without a spirit of mutual loyalty between all those bound together in a common work. This is why it is so necessary to extend the principle of co-operation and partnership so as to deepen the sense of responsibility for the rendering dard, for the 120th Meridian west. of faithful and efficient work. Above the din of machinery should be heard the voice of conscience: Be loyal,

Community Service St.

In Life of Country. As an individual he finds himself a member of a community. Rupert varies only a few minutes A city it may be. If this city is to prosper there must be a strong on some days and on others is community spirit amongst its people. There are hundreds of the same. The range of the tide branches of service which are not for the benefit of any one in- may be computed as 5 per cent dividual in particular, but for the common welfare. If he likes greater at Prince Rupert than at he can pick his way through the various windings of civic life Port Simpson both at springs and bent only on reaching his own selfish goal, but would this be neaps. Therefore the rise in the worthy of a true citizen? Let him rather keep before him a Prince Rupert harbor is slightly vision of a better city yet to be, as he follows this leading light: greater than Port Simpson. Be loyal.

As an individual he finds himself a member of a nation. Men of various races may be gathered into this Dominion of lower low water. Canada, but in this vast country there is going on a process of welding together. We have now a history behind us, a link with the past, and we have before us a future bright with untold the classified list possibilities. If he likes he can answer as one did before the military tribunal when asked if he did not think he owed a duty to his country, "No, I work hard enough for my living," but would this answer be worthy of his manhood? Whatever be trict of skeena, and situate 1/4 mile eastthe personal cost let him devote himself to a cause greater than himself, a cause for which the king is the visible rallying-point and in the spirit of patriotism obey the call: Be loyal.

False Nationalism Not Highest.

As an individual he finds himself a member of the Universal more Brotherhood of Mankind, with God as the Spiritual Father of all. He sees, therefore, that each nation is not an independent unit less. to live for itself alone, a false nationalism, but is a ministering member of a Society of Nations. He sees that the spirit of ethical love which shows itself in mutual service, the very spirit which Christ exhibited upon the Cross when He sacrificed Himself for the good of others, is the fundamental basis of the moral universe, the great reality before which everything else fades into in- n Naden Harbor. significance.

And now looking back over the long trail he has followed intends to apply for permission to lease was organized at New York, for skidegate, B. C., settler, intends to apply he makes the great discovery that loyalty to the family, the company, the community, the nation, the world of mankind, is nothing less than this: Loyalty to God.

F. H. DU VERNET, Archbishop of Caledonia.

3 OTTAWA ST., HULL, P. Q. "For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief and thought I would never be able to walk again. One day while lying in bed, I read about "Fruit-a-tives" the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumstism left me." LORENZO LEDUC.

Why Play Baseball?

Why do boys play baseball' Well, probably because it is born and bred in them from the very remote ages when our ancestors lived in caves. After all, there is not a great deal of difference between batsmen of the present on the one hand, and a couple of hostite savages, one of whom, armed with a slab, is advancing towards his opponent, who has a handful of stones to fling at him. Baseball, then, it is not a fad, but the natural expression of youth. ful vitality and will endure as long as the boys remain robust and sturdy.
