FISH EXPERTS VISIT CANNERY ON THE SKEENA

Party From Convention and Local People Entertained by Manager Strang of Sunnyside.

The fisheries visitors and a number of Prince Rupert citizens including the mayor, the secretary of the Northwest Tourist Association, president of the Board of Trade, the American consul, and representatives of the fisheries, the city council, and the press, made a trip up the Skeena River yesterday on the fishery boat Thomas Crosby. The trip was made possible through the kindness of J. T. C. Williams, fisheries inspector, and was under the auspices of the Board of Trade.

The party, which numbered about forty, reached Sunnyside cannery just in time for a fish lunch which was served in the mess house. The menu consisted almost exclusively of fish packed or handled by the Gosse-Miller Packing Company who were the hosts and were ably represented by the cannery manager, J. F. Strang. It consisted of red spring salmon, pilchard, clam chowder, and several other varieties of fish prepared in various ways.

After lunch the process of canning was shown, some fish having been secured for the occasion through the kindness of Manager Lord of the Cassiar Cannery, who aided Mr. Strang in entertaining the guests and in explaining the process of canning. On the wharf photographs were taken by the official photographer, Harry McLeod, and a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by President Parker of the Board of Trade, to Mr. Strang for his kindness and courtesy, and was carried by acclamation, the party singing "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The party arrived home in time for dinner, bringing Mr. Strang in for the dance in the evening. On board the boat there was much merry-making. The fish men of the party ably sustained their reputation as raconteurs of wonderful yarns and on arrival back in Prince Rupert expressed the results as particularly pleased with the entertainment they had received.

WANT LESS THEORY AND MORE PRACTICE

Would Abolish Exams in Schools; Too Great Mental and Nervous Tax on Pupils.

CALGARY, June 10.—Throughout Alberta there is a general feeling not only among educationists but among business men that the formal term and examinations in the schools should be abandoned as too great a tax on the mental and nervous systems of the pupils, and the Edmonton Board of Trade has even gone so far as to adopt a resolution declaring that these examinations are not a good influence and that there is too much curriculum in the public schools of that city. They claim that arithmetic should be a study of practical everyday business lessons that will equip the boys and girls for the actual work they have to face when they leave school. Home work should be restricted to a minimum, concludes the board's report.

Ball Player Loses Jury's Verdict in $9,500 Suit—Appeal Entered.

CINCINNATI, June 10.—At a jury trial in the suit entered by Magee, the Cincinnati ball player, against the Chicago National League club for $9,500 because of the club's refusal to permit him to play for them again, a verdict for the defence was returned. The case will be appealed.

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

THAT once again the Dominion Government has shown a vacillating policy. It is weakening on the budget announcements.

THAT first it will and then it won't. It is hardly fair to its newspaper supporters to run off on a tangent and then take it all back.

THAT the only thing for the Unionist organs to do just now is to wait and wonder.

THAT some of them are wondering how long they will have to wait.

THAT in a speech before the Elks the other night Fred Stork said that the older a man became, the farther he could jump when he was a boy.

THAT the young man in his twenties remarks that there are exceptions. He says that he does not think of a girl in the next town half as much as one in the back pack.

THAT the embargo on freight simply means that we must do without.

THAT it is foolish to worry over lack of fresh fruit and vegetables when there is good fish in the sea and a bit of flour in the bin, not to mention an occasional two-bit potato.

THAT Burnaby's police chief has been given the G. B. for not enforcing the liquor laws. In Prince Rupert doubtless there is enforcement, but that eight ounces allowed on prescriptions seems to be very strong stuff.

THAT it might even be said to be "heady."
