MOCCASINED INDIANS AT WINNIPEG HOTEL

WINNIGEP, June 14.—Curled up in an armchair in the Fort Garry hotel rotunda, a squaw formed an object of interest to the guests this morning. She seemed quite at home, and was squatting in the chair on her moccasined feet as naturally as though she were in a teepee. She wore a gayly-colored shawl over her head and was clad in a black dress of uncertain style. Her husband, a husky brave, also wearing moccasins, was pacing up and down outside, appearing to be more impressed than she with the grandeur of the hotel.

The Indians hail from File Hills, Sask., and were waiting to see W. N. Graham, Indian agent from Regina. It was said that they intend to make a three months' trip north to visit one of the farthest Indian agencies.

A party of Shriners from the United States, on their way to Portland, came into the rotunda while the dusky lady was sitting there, and appeared to be much impressed by this evidence of the wildness of the Canadian west.

VANCOUVER, June 15.—Capt. C. H. Nicholson, general manager of the G. T. P. coast steamships, this morning declared that the embargo would be continued against shipping goods to Prince Rupert and that there was little hope of an early settlement of the strike controversy. PICNIC PARTY

Number of Local Young People Make Trip up Skeena River.

On Sunday, J. F. Strang of Sunnyside Cannery entertained a number of the local young people who went up there on the China Hat. Following luncheon the manager took the visitors all through the plant and showed all the machinery ready for the opening of the canning season which will commence next week.

Three coaches of Indians arrived by Sunday night's passenger train to start work and by June 20th everything ought to be in full swing. The weather was ideal for the picnic party and many pleasant hours were whiled away before returning to town.

MINK FARMING

Valuable Furs May be Raised by Animals in Captivity.

At the recent fur auctions in Montreal, the price of mink skins averaged $20. The better skins sold for $30 upwards to $75 for one very choice lot.

Mink is a handsome, durable fur. It has been demonstrated that minks can be kept in captivity. They require little space and can be cheaply fed, provided one can obtain fresh fish or fresh meat practically all the time. Persons who live near the sea coast would appear to be in an advantageous position for the rearing of this animal. Once the difficulty of obtaining stock, which for purposes of domestication, must be taken young, has been overcome, the prospective raiser of minks ought to be in a fair way to success.

The principal diet of minks should always be meat or fish. English sparrows, mice, frogs, rabbits, scrops of butcher's meat, small or coarse fish and fish heads, may be mentioned as examples of the sort of feed for minks. They will also learn to eat cereals readily and they may be given well-cooked graham mush with milk, together with ground meat or meat broth. In feeding cereals, however, care should be taken not to cause diarrhoea. In winter the food is best served warm. As to quantity about 4 ounces of meat daily is sufficient for an adult.

W. F. Binns is a visitor in the city, having come in from Balmoral cannery yesterday.

Fred Nash arrived in town from Masset yesterday and is registered at the Prince Rupert Hotel.
